Summer Youth Employment Program Funds Cut

by Kathy Giordano

"I am not a messenger with good news," stated Carol McCarthy of Action for Boston Community Development (ABCD), "but a messenger with bad news." This set the tone of a meeting between the youth servicing agencies of Charlestown on Wednesday, May 27.

The group had gathered to discuss the cuts in summer jobs for Charlestown youth. McCarthy told the agencies that over one million dollars had been cut from last year's budget of $2.8 million, leaving $1.7 million for 1987. This translates into 1,425 jobs available citywide compared to 3,300 youngsters employed in 1986. "We are victims of the unemployment factor in Massachusetts," continued McCarthy, commenting on the low unemployment rate now enjoyed in the State. This factor only uses the "general unemployment rate, not the youth figures. We are facing a serious problem. This is the largest cut in jobs in the twenty-five years of ABCD's existence."

Jack Sheehan, who has headed the Summer Youth

Employment Program at the Kennedy Center for twenty-two years, stated that "119 jobs were available in Charlestown in 1986, but with the budget cuts for 1987, only 23 of those positions will be available. He further stated that this will have a trickle down effect on the programs in which these youngsters worked in previous years. Two good examples given were the Summer Day Camp program, a collaborative between the Boys and Girls Club, Kennedy Center and Community Schools in which over one hundred young children enjoyed a summer of fun. This collaborative may now be in jeopardy with the cutbacks. Another area was the hiring of special needs children in the Camp Bunker Hill Program which may also be affected by these cuts.

However, Sheehan stressed the importance of youngsters coming to the Kennedy Center and filling out employment applications because efforts are being made to find positions in the private sector.

These efforts are already showing success. Cooperation between State and City agencies have already secured summer positions for Charlestown teenagers. Jobs will also become available through the Parks and Recreation Department, Community Schools and Boston Housing Authority. It is also hoped that money from the State will come to help fill additional slots.

The cooperation between all the agencies involved has one goal — to obtain as many jobs as possible for Charlestown's youth. Future meetings are planned to both update the agencies as to their success in obtaining jobs and seeking additional alternative solutions to the problem.

Two Charlestown residents were among approximately 2,500 graduates to receive degrees from Boston College at its 111th commencement exercises on May 18.

United Nations Ambassador Vernon A. Walters delivered the commencement address to the new graduates and over 20,000 family members and friends in attendance at Alumni Stadium.

Area graduates who received bachelor's degrees were:

John J. Lynch, son of Mrs. Pauline Lynch and the late William Lynch of 43 Pearl Street, received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Arts and Sciences. Lynch majored in History and Secondary Education.

Marianne E. Regan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Regan of 82 High Street, received a Bachelor of Science Degree Summa Cum Laude from the School of Nursing. Regan majored in Nursing.

Mayor To Mayor

JIM FITZGERALD, the "Mayor of Charlestown," presented Mayor Raymond L. Flynn with a "Charlestown-To-Charlestown" T-shirt at the Parkman House where the Mayor hosted a reception for the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee; the Bunker Hill Associates, supporters of Charlestown Pride Week; and the Bunker Hill Day Road Race Committee. Pictured with the two mayors are Mrs. Frances Fitzgerald and her daughter, Cathy.

Boston Latin School News

Head Master Dr. Joseph Desmond is pleased to announce that Jennifer E. Burns of Charlestown is a member of the Approbation List for the fourth marking term at Boston Latin School.

She received Approbation with Distinction.

Graduates From Bentley

Bruce A. Vaughan of Charlestown was among the 1,221 undergraduate and 364 graduate students receiving degrees at Bentley College's 68th Commencement Exercises on May 16.

Vaughan, of 125 Main Street, received an MST Degree at the ceremony.

Massachusetts Governor Michael Dukakis delivered the commencement address at the Waltham campus urging graduates to bring integrity and values to the workplace in an era of "mergermania" and take-overs.

The Democratic presidential candidate called upon the students to measure themselves not by net worth but by the "contribution you can make to the greater good."

Graduate From Boston College

Area graduates who received bachelor's degrees were:

John J. Lynch, son of Mrs. Pauline Lynch and the late William Lynch of 43 Pearl Street, received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Arts and Sciences. Lynch majored in History and Secondary Education.

Marianne E. Regan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Regan of 82 High Street, received a Bachelor of Science Degree Summa Cum Laude from the School of Nursing. Regan majored in Nursing.

THE SETTLEMENT SHEET

At the settlement table, both buyer and seller will sign the settlement sheet, detailing all of the charges that each party incurs during the sale of a house. It is crucial to go over the sheet, make sure it is accurate, and understand what is on it before you complete the transaction.

When a contract is negotiated, each side agrees on how to divide up the loan fees (or points), as well as other settlement charges such as state or local taxes or legal fees. Your agent or your attorney can go over the settlement sheet helping you to compare it with your purchase agreement. The sellers will probably include the brokerage, mortgage payoff, and any charges involved in clearing the title. The buyer's side generally sets out loan charges, title searches, and insurance and other legal fees. It may also include property tax pro-rates, payments for termite treatment, or escrows for repairs that could not be completed by settlement. A good title attorney will go over the settlement sheet line by line, explaining each item and correcting any misplaced charge.

"Old Glory" To Be Unfurled In Flag Day Ceremony In Navy Yard

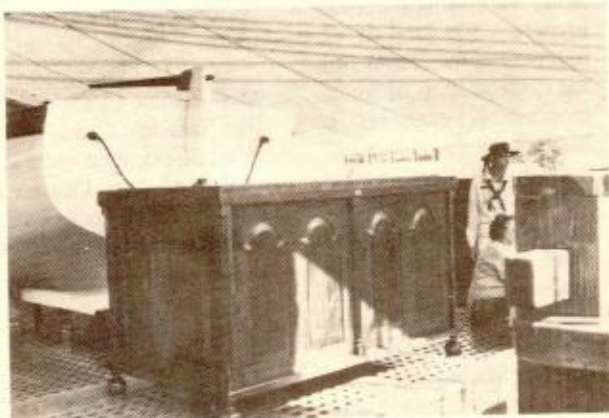

by Mary Ziniti

Oh, say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave? It certainly will wave, like it never has before.

This Old Glory — one the size of a basketball court — will unfurl and hang on "Old Ironsides" before it makes its final journey to South Dakota for July 4th ceremonies at Mount Rushmore.

President Ronald Reagan will use the flag on the nation's birthday to unveil Abraham Lincoln's mountainous stone face for its 50th anniversary celebration.

One year ago, the National Park Service commissioned Halifax resident Marc Valentine and the company he runs in his spare time called Orches-

THE CHEST containing an American flag that measures the size of a basketball court awaits its June 14 opening on board "USS Constitution."

trations, Inc. to organize the ceremonies.

In the past, Orchestration, Inc. has run events such as a mock-wedding-food-fight at the Marshfield Fair. Five hundred people dressed-up in formal attire and paid $10 to throw donated pies at one another to raise money for the Department of Youth Services, where Valentine is also employed as a case worker.

"This is a whole national moment about energy," Valentine said of the pending Mount Rushmore event. "Energy just from the idea that thousands of people across the country have touched this flag," he said.

Since January, the field of blue with the 50 stars has been on a national tour, allowing thousands of people to view it and touch it. The tour ended at a special ceremony at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D.C.

However, before the national tour, the origins of the flag began in the Bay State.

Other Massachusetts residents played important roles in the development of the flag events. The Flag Center of Cambridge made the flag, while George Sturtevant of Plymouth County constructed the cherry wood chest used to transport Old Glory.

The 350 pound chest has 13 panels on it that represent the original 13 colonies.

On April 18, a special train, accompanied by the National Park Service, was sent to Halifax to pick up and transport the chest and the flag to Boston.

The blue section went to the John F. Kennedy Library where the red and white stripes were added and it was completed and dedicated. The final pressing and folding took place at the Copley Plaza.

On Bunker Hill Day, which is also Flag Day, the completed flag, that measures 45 by 85 feet, will be unfurled aboard the USS Constitution after the flag and the chest are paraded through Charlestown.

MARC VALENTINE inspects the massive American flag that will fly aboard the "Constitution" on Bunker Hill Day.

As part of the Bunker Hill Day celebrations, the special storage chest containing Old Glory will leave the Constitution on a caisson drawn by nine Clydesdale horses. After it travels in the parade, the flag will return to the ship.

"This is a chance for people to actually see history passing by them," said Valentine. "Most people never get into the intimate moment" of history, he said.

A special program will begin on the Constitution at 5:00 p.m. that includes the raising and unfurling of the flag for the first time since its completion. A crane will hang it one to two feet above the ground so the public may touch it. Patriotic music will be featured as Harry Ellis Dickson conducts the Lexington Choir and the gathering of people on hand for this ceremony. Following the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which will accompany the raising of the flag, four verses of the National Anthem will be sung.

Valentine said that he wanted to stress the entire National Anthem because it is a song that most people don't know.

He said that when people cheer the song before it ends they "miss the most important words of the song: 'the home of the free and the brave.'"

In addition to the music, the cannons of the Constitution will fire a salute.

Valentine stated that the history of Charlestown is important and that is why he is having the flag unfurled here before it continues its journey on to Mount Rushmore.

"Just the fact that the unveiling is in Charlestown shows that Charlestown must be a special place," he said.

After the July 4th ceremonies with the president, the flag will be stored in the Hall of Records which is a carved out section in Mount Rushmore just behind the four presidents' heads.

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

Update! The northern Shipway commercial unit for rent is finally sporting a phone number. For those interested in renting, you may contact 242-5304. Also, a window sign displaying Charlestown Realty Company as the rental agent is very conspicuous.

Geographically, Prospect Street is within easy walking distance to the Yard and its existing and daily new unfolding sights. The Yard is quite popular with the Prospect Street residents. Over the past weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Duggan enjoyed Shipyard Marina with its nearly 200 ships. I wonder if Walter was also observing the long awaited fire house location? The lucky inhabitants will be the best tanned on the force, without shelling out greenbacks to the tanning industry.

High intrigue on the sea developed this past Memorial Day. Front Pier at Shipyard Marina was the scene for the arrival of the 110 foot 007. We have all read or viewed creator Ian Flemings' James Bond series. Wonder who the passengers were? The port of origin wasn't viewable. Some quick scuba diving escapades would be necessary to obtain same. This is a fascinating luxury trans-Atlantic vessel that leaves nothing for the imagination.

Gradually the blue canvas and white piping is up along Constellation Wharf. This, coupled with the public welcome sign, indicates the community is beginning to take shape.

A change of working venue for "Townie" Peter Looney has occurred. Peter has arrived with his construction skills to bring Building 33 to fruition. A pleasant walk from his residency, Peter can enjoy the Yard's daily metamorphosis. Welcome back, Peter, and good luck to you and your organization with the forthcoming Rose Contest.

A dual evening of socializing as well as being briefed on the 212th Anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill was most enjoyable last week. With the Parkman House and its architectural delights as the backdrop, Mayor Raymond L. Flynn and various staff members detailed the festivities. An anticipated 200,000 spectators will line the streets to watch the many and diversified bands perform. Chairman James W. Conway stated that some 30 musical units will be put on the street. With the majority of funds raised from private donations, the parade should rival our 1975 Bicentennial event. For all first-time parade watchers, you are in for a great day.

Here comes the judge! A hackneyed platitude but worthy of the real stuff this past week. Retired Supreme Court Justice Warren Burger graced the USS Constitution as Chairman of the National Committee for the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution. The seagoing Constitution met the scrolled one. With a stupendous weather day guarantee, the esoteric invited guests bantered about "Old Ironsides." Wishing he had viewed our special treasure earlier, Justice Burger exuded a great personality. As he stated at one of his last electronic media interviews, when his day was over at the Supreme Judicial Court, he left his work behind and looked forward to his family and special hobbies. Hope to see you return for a turnabout cruise, Justice; Commander Brown will see what he can do on the Fourth of July.

Didn't see a single poppy being displayed over the Memorial weekend within the Yard. Let's not forget the Veterans who made our serenity and safety the greatest possible. Let's get them dispensed next year. Call your local Veteran's organization for additional details.

THE SPIRIT OF MASSACHUSETTS

The Schooner Spirit Of Massachusetts returned to her berth at the Charlestown Navy Yard in Boston, today, June 4. The Spirit is returning home after an eight month tour of Caribbean, Southern, and East Coast Ports. During this period, Spirit served a dual purpose. She served as a Goodwill Ambassador for the Commonwealth promoting Massachusetts tourism and economic development to thousands of visitors who crossed her decks in each port. In each port-of-call, the Spirit brought key officials, business, and media representatives together for sails and receptions. She also served as a sail training vessel for students from all over the country.

Homecoming festivities took place at Pier One near the USS Constitution at the Navy Yard.

The welcome-home ceremony was enhanced by the participation of the Gorton Company of Gloucester. The Spirit reflects the image of the fishing industry in American History and the company welcomed her in honor of the role that fishing vessels similar to the Spirit played in this country's heritage since Colonial days.

To honor the "Spirit Of Massachusetts," the Gorton Company presented a brass signal cannon from the Gertrude L. Thebaud, an promoting Massachusetts' economic development, plans for an out-of-state Heritage Tour are being planned in collaboration with the Gorton Company.

The Spirit is owned and operated by New England Historic Seaport, a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation of America's Maritime History.

During the summer months, Spirit will be busy participating in special events in Massachusetts ports with corporate charters and sail training programs. The scheduled sail training programs include a Maine Maritime Wilderness Tour in July and a Whales and Whaling program in August.

Charlestown Resident Graduates From St. Michael's

Gerald F. O'Neil was one of 382 students who received bachelor's degrees May 17 from Saint Michael's College in Winooski, Vermont. O'Neil received a bachelor of arts degree in political science. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald O'Neil, Monument Avenue, Charlestown.

Addressing the graduates was Jaime L. Cardinal Sin, Archbishop of Manila, who is widely known as the spiritual leader of the Philippine revolution. In describing the February 1986 revolution, he spoke of the central importance of faith for the poor people who made the revolution and of the hard work that lay ahead before Philipppines "can enter the promised land of full employment and justice for all."

District City Council Candidate Maria DiLibero Examines Pressing Housing Issues

Maria DiLibero, Democratic candidate for Boston City Council, has lived in District One for all of her adult life. She married her high-school sweetheart in East Boston, raised a family of three children and is an area businesswoman. It's safe to say Maria DiLibero is a product of this District.

DiLibero has worked as treasurer for the Joe Timilty Mayoralty Committee, was a former Administrative Aide to State Representative Gus Serra and worked as a Senior Administrative Assistant to former Suffolk County Sheriff Dennis Kearney. This makes her no stranger to the Boston political scene.

Maria DiLibero has involved herself in some of the City's more major politicking. DiLibero knows firsthand the pressing problems not only District One faces, but the problems the whole city faces as well. DiLibero understands the importance of a City Councillor who will be available, who will be there to listen to the problems of the district residents. Scheduling regular office hours in each neighborhood of District One is one way DiLibero plans to stay in touch and keep attuned to the pressing problems that are the concerns of her constituents. DiLibero knows affordable housing is an issue of great concern of citizens everywhere in the district. She knows this not only from getting out and talking with residents and attending numerous neighborhood meetings, but she also has seen friends and neighbors faced with the crisis of being displaced by uncontrolled condo-conversions, unaffordable rent hikes, and the dilemma of not being able to afford a home of their own because of skyrocketing property values.

"Something has to be done to regulate control over condo-conversions," states Maria DiLibero. "The present boom in the construction and housing industries has caused rents and home prices to skyrocket. This in turn has caused many of our young and elderly to seek alternative housing outside the district as well outside the City of Boston." When elected, DiLibero pledges to make housing a top priority. "There is nothing wrong with development and improvement, but we have to make sure that with progress, we do not force the people of this district, who are our heritage and future, to move out of this great city of ours," explains DiLibero. "It is this heritage that makes each one of our neighborhoods so unique and individual. And it's this heritage that makes people proud to say that they are from Charlestown or the North End or East Boston or Charles River Park, and it is this type of uniqueness we must strive to keep." When elected, Maria DiLibero promises to push for more affordable housing and help all residents being displaced to find other acceptable housing within their own neighborhoods.

Maria DiLibero is the wife of Nicola DiLibero and the mother of three children, daughter, Lehana and sons, Nick Jr. and Erik. (political advertisement)

Receives Associate Degree From Chamberlayne

Amy C. Engelhardt of 5409 Eighth Street, Charlestown received an associate degree at the 89th commencement exercises of Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston held at Trinity Church in Copley Square.

Helene Levenson of Newton, a professional interior designer, was the principal speaker. She told the graduates "If you are afraid to fail, you will not succeed, your failures will not count, your successes will."

Dr. Bryan E. Carlson, president of Chamberlayne, presented the associate degrees to 180 candidates. Professor Herbert T. Anderson, chairman of the Interior Design Department, presented Professional Certificates to graduates of the three-year program in that department.

Central Artery North Area Roadway Reconstruction Update

All of the removed artifacts will be stored at the Boston National Historical Park in the Navy Yard except for the metal grates which will be stored at the MDPW building in South Boston.

The project has two phases, asbestos removal and demolition, and has a completion date of October 31, 1987.

UTILITY RELOCATION WORK ON WEEKENDS IN CITY SQUARE

Utility relocation work in City Square is being done during weekends on the North Washington Street Bridge and will force the reduction of traffic to two lanes in each direction.

The work is being done between 5:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays to minimize the disruption of traffic flow in the City Square area. Steel plates will be used to cover the trench at night when the bridge will return to normal operation.

A complete police detail will keep traffic moving and an emergency vehicle lane will be in place during construction. Workers are now installing a 36-inch steel gas main across the bridge. Telephone and electrical ducts will also have to be relocated across City Square this summer.

FREEDOM TRAIL TO BE

PATCHED AND REPAINTED IN CITY SQUARE

The MDPW will be repairing the city sidewalk on the North Washington Street Bridge and rerouting and repainting the Freedom Trail to steer pedestrians out of the CANA related construction areas. The new trail will lead pedestrians from the North Washington Street Bridge to Chelsea Street, right on Gray Street to Constitution Road.

If you have any CANA related complaints, questions or suggestions, please call the CANA hotline at 973-7500.

Commissioner Robert T. Tierney of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works writes a bi-monthly column for the "Charlestown Patriot" on the progress of the Central Artery North Area (CANA) project. The CANA project is a $230 million reconstruction and depression of the interchange of Route 1 and I-93 in Charlestown. The five-year project will benefit the region by eliminating a dangerous chokepoint in the interstate highway system while revitalizing historic City Square.

Duffy Family Endowment To Benefit Charlestown Boys And Girls Club

James J. Duffy of James J. Duffy, Inc. in Charlestown, has established The Duffy Family Endowment, a gift of $10,000 to benefit the Charlestown Club of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston. Duffy, an alumnus of the club, hopes to give something back to the town he calls home. Duffy is the first person to set up such a fund for the Charlestown Club.

The fund has been established to benefit club members and the community. Specifically, the fund will support educational programs, activities which address problems affecting the youth of Charlestown, and the promotion of public welfare in the town.

Duffy is presently Chairman of the Board of the National Candy Wholesaler Association Director's Club, to which he donates $1,000 annually toward a scholarship. He was President of the Charlestown Kiwanis, of which he is still a member. Duffy also belongs to the Elk's Club and the Knights of Columbus. In addition, he established a scholarship in the name of his late wife, Winifred Talbot, through the Old Charlestown School Girls Association.

Duffy was born in Charlestown in 1910. He has five children, James Jr., Francis, John, George and Susan, as well as numerous grandchildren. Now semi-retired, Duffy is still involved in James J. Duffy, Inc., the family candy and tobacco business now run by his son George.

It is Duffy's hope that his gift will encourage others to contribute what they can to the club. It has been his philosophy that "we are all in this together" and says if he can somehow aid even one person through his gift, it is all worthwhile to him.

Chief Marshal

with the National Security Agency.

The last active duty assignment of his 30-year Naval career brought Gillen home to Charlestown as the 59th Commander of USS Constitution, the oldest commissioned warship in the United States Navy.

Since retiring from active duty, Gillen has settled down on Wallace Court in Charlestown with his wife, the former Paula Foran of Dublin, Ireland, and is now Naval Science Instructor and Head of the Naval Science Department of the Naval JROTC program at West Roxbury High School.

On Sunday, June 14th, his wife, their two children, his family, including his mother, Mary Gillen of Saint Martin Street, his hometown friends, and a proud and grateful community will cheer for him as he leads the 1987 Bunker Hill Day Parade as Chief Marshal.

Fifth Annual Charlestown Rose Contest

The Fifth Annual Rose Contest will get underway Friday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 75 West School Street.

The event, sponsored by the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee, will present six young ladies who will vie for the Charlestown Rose Crown.

The girls are Jennifer Borden, Susan Lyons, Barbie Marsden, Ginny Melanson, Joanne McNeil, and Maura O'Neil. The winner of Friday's event will receive an eleven day tour for two to Ireland and will compete in the Western Rose Festival held in Charlestown, County Mayo.

On hand for the festivities will be his honor, Jim "Honey Fitz" Fitzgerald, Mayor of Charlestown, and family.

Charlestown Honors Three Servicemen With Hero Square Dedications

Memorial Day was observed in Charlestown on Sunday, May 31 with the dedication of two hero squares to three of Charlestown's native sons, followed by Memorial Day Services at Saint Francis de Sales Church.

The dedication was sponsored by Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion, with the approval of the Charlestown Veterans Committee.

During this ceremony, Private Daniel A. Kelley, USMC and S/Sergeant James P. Kelley, USMC were honored by a square dedicated in their names at Bunker Hill and North Mead Streets. Private John W. Powers was similarly honored with a square dedicated in his name at Bunker Hill Court and Bunker Hill Street.

The ceremonies, under the chairmanship of James W. Conway, Commander of Bunker Hill Post 26 and Past National Historian of the American Legion, opened with the presentation of the colors by the United States Marine Corps and the USS Constitution Color Guards. Music was provided by the Milton Post Band.

The Invocation was delivered by Reverend William J. McConnell, Curate at Saint Francis de Sales

Church and former United States Navy Chaplain who served with the United States Marine Corps in Vietnam. Reverend Isaiah Sears, retired pastor of the First Baptist Church in Charlestown offered the Benediction.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Senior Vice Commander and Past Commander of Bunker Hill Post Florence Johnson, a Gold Star Mother. Chairman Conway recited the poem "Memorial Day" by Joyce Kilmer after which the two squares were dedicated.

In referring to the two Kelley brothers and Private Powers, Conway stated that "all three made the ultimate sacrifice — the offering of their lives for the most noble of causes." For Private Dan Kelley and Private John Powers, it was on the field of battle in combat, while S/Sergeant Jim Kelley gave his life in an heroic attempt to save his friend and a fellow Marine in a fire.

S/Sergeant James P. Kelley and Private Daniel A. Kelley were two of seven brothers who, in the typical Charlestown "Townie" tradition, answered their Country's call, enlisting in the United States Marine Corps during World War II.

Jim Kelley, who enlisted prior to Pearl Harbor, died a hero on the night of November 28, 1942 in one of the most horrendous catastrophes in the history of Boston — the Coconut Grove Fire. After helping a number of people to safety, he re-entered the building to search for a friend and fellow Marine and perished in the attempt.

Inspired by his brother's heroism and sacrifice, Dan Kelley enlisted in the USMC in June 1944, as soon as he was old enough to do so. After six months of basic training, he departed for the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre of War and was killed in action on March 3, 1945 at Iwo Jima.

Private John W. Powers, Sr. entered the United States Army on June 1, 1944, though he was a young man with four children at the time. Private Powers participated in some of the fiercest fighting in the European Theatre and while serving in the 345th Infantry, 87th Division of the Third Army, under the leadership of General George Patton, he was killed in action at Neustein, Germany on February 27, 1945 and is buried in Henri Chapelle Cemetery in Belgium. Powers had been home on leave in January of 1945. At the time of his death at the age of 25, Powers left behind six year old John, Grace Ann who was three, Robert "Bobbie" who was two, and one year old Kathleen. His wife, Grace, was pregnant at the time that she was notified of his death and later gave birth to a son, Hugh.

Phillip Joseph Kelley, brother of Daniel and James and a Past Commander of Bunker Hill Post, unveiled the square in honor of his brothers. Hugh Powers then unveiled the square named in honor of his father, John Powers.

Memorial wreaths were placed on the squares by Bunker Hill Post Graves Registration Officer and Past Commander Patricia Farris and Post Junior Vice Commander and Past Commander Arthur Hurley.

Among the distinguished guests participating in the ceremonies were Senator Francis D. Doris, Representative Richard A. Voke, Mayor Raymond L. Flynn and Sergeant John Mathews, US Army.

Conway noted that this community, Charlestown, has witnessed the departure of her sons and daughters to war in all conflicts in which this nation has engaged — from Bunker Hill to Vietnam. He stated that it was "with pride and honor" that they gathered to dedicate the squares and honor these departed heroes. He said, "We pray not only for the Kelley brothers and John Powers but for all those men and women from Charlestown and across this nation who have made the supreme sacrifice."

Not For Nothin' . . . But Have You Heard . . .

• Welcome Aboard . . . Mary Ziniti has joined the staff of the Charlestown Patriot. We welcome her to Charlestown and know she'll enjoy meeting all of you as the summer months go by.

• Au Revoir . . . Paul Jackson has left the staff of the Boys and Girls Club after nineteen years of dedicated service to the youth of Charlestown. You will be missed, Paul. Best of luck in all your future endeavors.

• Many, Many Happy Returns . . . go out to Peter and Dorothy Scott who celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary on June 4th. Our very best wishes to both of you!

• Stupidity Award of the Week . . . goes out to the contractor who placed the street light in the middle of the handicapped ramp at Thompson Square outside the liquor store. Bright, real bright! Let's only hope that Mahoney & Company, the contractor who is now redoing that area, corrects this error . . . now that we put a little light on the situation.

• Speaking Of Lights . . . the Charlestown High School Athletic Field will finally have light this week, thanks to the efforts of a group of individuals who didn't take "no" for an answer. From what we've heard it was Dan O'Neil, John Houlihan, Ed Mahan, Jim Fitzgerald, City Councillor Bob Travaglini, Representative Richard Voke, Charlie Clabaugh, Jay Ash, Judy Evers, Mike Powers and Bob Farrell. Congratulations to one and all for job well done.

• Congratulations Graduates . . . Saint Francis de Sales School will hold its graduation of 8th graders this Sunday, June 7th to be followed by graduation ceremonies at Saint Catherine's on Wednesday evening, June 10th. Our best wishes to one and all as you approach this milestone in your life!

• Gone, But Not Forgotten . . . where are all those friendly faces that greeted us on the first floor of Constitution Co-op? Warren Street is not the same without them being there to greet young and old, tourist, resident or construction worker! We'd like to see them back where they belong.

• Celebration Plans . . . have begun for Saint Mary's Church Centennial to take place in 1988! The present church building opened its doors in 1888, replacing the old structure located on Union and Washington Streets. The Parish also celebrates its 160th anniversary next year. Much is planned — stay tuned for details.

• Doctor Doris?? . . . Senator Francis Doris was awarded a Masters Degree in Political Science at the University of Massachusetts. Congratulations Senator . . . and will the next title be Doctor?

• Irish Or Not . . . one and all had a grand time at Representative Richard Voke's Tommy Makem and Liam Clancy concert last Thursday evening. Many tapping feet could be heard as the capacity crowd sang with the very popular Irish pair.

• Speaking of Tapping Feet . . . the dancing bug bit Mary Hurley last week at the Charlestown Old Schoolgirls Association Reunion. A recent injury kept her from the Hustle and Hully Gully but she certainly tore up the carpet trying to dance at her spot at the dinner table!

• And, Speaking Of The Old Schoolgirls . . . Peg Motherway completed her two year term as president and was presented a Paul Revere Bowl. Best wishes go out to newly elected president Kay Perreault!

• Thank You's Of The Week . . . go to Bernie Kelly for washing the Patriot office windows. You're going to be sorry, Bernie! Now our spy can catch up on what you're doing!!!! AND to Jim Barker for bringing his smiling face back from vacation. It wasn't the same visiting the Post Office, Jim. Your personality was missed. Residents also want to thank Cablevision for finally fixing the problem in the Washington Street area so that they could tune in to Tuesday night's Celtics game. They couldn't get any reception at all and they appreciate it!

• Once a firefighter . . . always a firefighter. Retired firefighter Marty O'Brien was seen manning the hoses during a Sunday evening fire on Auburn Street. Seems as though with the sounds of the sirens, his instinct was to battle the blaze — and that he did!

REMEMBER THIS IS CHARLESTOWN PRIDE WEEK

clean-up met and exceeded all expectations.

The weather was a major catalyst and over fifty men, women, and children rallied to the cause. Granted, some got carried away. Jim Bradley started with his saw and ax at 7:00 a.m. He ran out of gas at 1:00 p.m., along with others. Help began arriving at 9:00 a.m. and toiled until nearly 1:00 p.m. The phenomenal transformation inspired everyone to keep working.

Jerry Benoit was one of the earliest arrivals and kept track of the playground area clean-up. David Dow, David Dow Jr., Jay Ash, Charlie Clabaugh, George deRedon, Don Long, Dan Kovacevic, David Keller, and Jim Bradley set upon the task of cleaning out the heavily overgrown section of the Back Slope along Medford Street near the gas station. Eric Saitta, the youngest four hour worker, clearly doesn't know the meaning of the word rest. He was always cheerful, always working.

While this activity was a full swing, Bill and Sandy White, Ellen and Keith Plapinger, Bruce and Andrea Garr spear-headed the mid slope clean-up. Ed Katz spent hours picking up everything from cigarette butts to newspapers. Katherine Downing and John and Mary Tobin cleaned the area around the playground swings and stairways. Jack Dziamba, Steve Spinetto, Guest Perry and Deb Perugi tackled the steps along Saint Martin Street. Pat Smith spent the entire morning clearing and cleaning the steps on the wooded side of the slope.

Barbara Maheigan, as the certified pruner, focused her attention on selected bushes. Judy Evers was everywhere. If she was not at the playground area passing out shirts and gloves and counting tools the Park Department provided, she was down by Medford Street bagging the debris for the ever-present Park employees, who watched with a certain amount of awe as three days of work were compacted into four labor intensive hours.

Many others not named also contributed equally and all should be thanked.

The park clean-up was one of a series of events of "Charlestown Preservation Week" sponsored by the Charlestown Preservation Society.

carefully given any training or instruction required. An emphasis is placed on fun! There is no charge.

The Road To Hull

by Joe Brue

Picture distant, soft Boston lights enfolded by azure blue sky grading to dark and sprinkled with a myriad of shimmering stars. Imagine a quiet, centered spot under the eaves of a bustling metropolis where one can be interrupted only by the swish of the oars, the lap of the waves or the occasional rumble of an aircraft. There might be sights of seals, or gossamer snowy owls filtering by on silent wings. Muscles relax as bodies work steadily, slowly, and efficiently for the common cause. The sharp eyes of the coxswain take in the boat's path and his steady hand steers the crew safely through waves, wakes and currents. Historic forts lie dormant on protective islands washed by the eerie light of the moon. Freighters bearing gifts from foreign lands glide by them in the distance.

There is a feeling of friendship and accomplishment on this nine mile trip from the Charlestown Navy Yard to Hull. Something clicks within us all, making us truly love the effort we make as a team. Rest stops feel the atmosphere of a family reunion with eager hands passing shared hunks of "Raisin Chale" or steamy cups of coffee and tea. It is a night that none of us will forget! It is one of many experiences that being members of Boston National Park rowing team has given us.

Pushing the last two hundred meters through Hull Gut, we are eyed by the competition. We look good — together. WE KNOW IT! THEY KNOW IT! Sooner or later we will be a TEAM to reckon with. But for now, there is the melancholy joy of a journey finished as the boat is made secure at mooring. All feel the good fatigue brought by a job well done. All anticipate eagerly other days and other voyages aboard the Liberte. Some of those days will be spent idling among sunny, salty, swells. Others will be spent in heated competition. We talk of overnight camping trips to the islands or picnics on hot beaches. Everyone is anxious to have our team family grow and prosper. Here is a place for individuals! Those who wish to play, workout occasionally, or compete are all welcome here. This is a place of tranquility that we have carved from the core of our hectic world.

As the night chill herds us toward the warmth of the awaiting van, someone mentions a problem in the seasonal dormitory and the bubble pops. The night's magic is waning. But we all know the magic will return again and again. That is the essence of Boston National Historical Park Rowing Team.

(The above article is taken from the journal of Park Ranger Joseph A. Brue, entitled: "Impressions of the Team Row from Charlestown Navy Yard to Hull aboard the Gig Liberte.")

The Charlestown Pop Warner Football Executive Board would like to let you know that there will be a Pop Warner Football League here in Charlestown this year.

We do have enough players for all three teams, but we could always use more. If anyone is interested in playing, they can reach Matt Stillman at 241-7771.

This year we have many expenses. We are trying to buy all new equipment for the players and new uniforms for the cheerleaders.

This year we are not charging any registration fee due to the fact that we do not want someone to lose the opportunity to get involved.

Many parents have made donations to our league and they were greatly appreciated. Also, the merchants throughout the town have sent donations and I would like to thank them.

They are: Memorial Hall, Knights of Columbus, Johnny Tremaine Shop, Robert Esdale, DDS, Rosev Enterprises - Red Store, Bank of New England, Charlestown Patriot, Charlestown Vision Associates, James J. Duffy, Inc., Christy's Place, John H. Sawyer Funeral Home, Richard K. Mazow, Bricklayers Union Local No. 3, Hanley Celata Associates, Lori-Ann Donut Shop, Family Shoe Store, B & B Oil Inc., H.P. ## Picarello Fundraiser June 9 At Lombardo's In East Boston

Anthony "Skip" Picarello, Democratic candidate for City Council, will hold a fundraiser rally on Tuesday evening, June 9, at Lombardo's Restaurant in East Boston. Picarello has been actively campaigning over the last six months for the District One Council seat presently held by Bob Travaglini. The district encompasses East Boston, Charlestown and the North End.

Picarello's support has grown dramatically during this time by bringing his campaign to the people of East Boston, Charlestown and the North End and drawing support from many local residents into his campaign efforts.

According to "Skip," "It's the individuals and families who live, work, and shop in the district who know what needs to be done and what a councillor can do and should do for them. Those are the people who will determine who will be our next councillor, not the developers, big business, and special interest groups."

To keep a pulse on the needs of the district, Picarello has been attending many meetings of various local community groups. He has attended meetings of the North End Council, Waterfront Council, Charlestown Neighborhood Council, the Charlestown Development Corporation, Land Use and PZAC groups. At the June 9 fundraiser, Picarello will discuss issues that have been brought up in these community meetings and cite his views as to how they affect the people in the district.

This fundraiser will be from 6:30 to 9:00 p.m. at Lombardo's on Tuesday, June 9. Hot and cold hors d'oeuvres will be served. The donation is $35 per person, $20 for senior citizens. For more information, "Skip" can be reached at 569-4621.

Picarello, a life-long district resident, graduated from Boston College in 1966. He is married and the father of three teenage children. He presently owns and operates a family business in East Boston. His political experience is highlighted by three years working as a senatorial aide dealing with everyday problems of residents of the district and an additional three years experience in Boston City government as a liaison in business and community issues in East Boston and the North End. ## Councillor McCormack Calls For Investigation Into Creosote Emissions

An order was filed in the Boston City Council on Wednesday, June 3 by City Councillor Michael McCormack calling for an investigation of the potential health risks associated with creosote emissions in the water near the Charlestown Navy Yard Piers that may affect the city's boating program slated for that area.

McCormack reported that creosote, a toxic substance widely used to preserve wood, was used on the pilings of the National Park Service's Pier Two in the Charlestown Navy Yard and the substance is being emitted from the pilings into the harbor. He stated that although a boom has been placed in the water to contain and absorb the creosote run-off from the pilings, it is not clear how much creosote remains in the harbor around the piers.

Creosote is known to cause a wide range of health problems in workers exposed to it, ranging from skin irritation to nerve damage and cancer. There may be associated health risks with periodic exposure to the substance in diluted forms.

McCormack expressed concern that the City intends to sponsor a boating program from Pier Four, a short distance from the pier that is emitting creosote and noted that potential health risks from the creosote emissions should be investigated and ruled out before boating program staff and young participants are permitted to use the water around the National Park Service Piers.

McCormack requested in his order before the City Council that the Parks and Recreation Commission consult with city, state and federal environmental health agencies to determine the level of creosote in the waters that will be used during the summer boating program and to determine if there are any health risks to program staff and the young participants before the sailing program commences.

McCormack further requested that the City Council Committee on Environment conduct a public hearing prior to start of the boating program to review the results of the Parks and Recreation Commission's investigation.

During the Council session on Wednesday, the order was referred to the Committee on Environment and Public Works. The Chairman of this committee is Councillor James Byrne and Councillor Robert Travaglini is the Vice Chairman.

Our Thanks

I would like to thank James Conway, the Charlestown Veterans Committee and Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion for the wonderful tribute offered for my late husband, Private John W. Powers, Sr., U.S.A., who died serving with the 345th Infantry Division under the command of General George Patton in Germany.

I appreciated seeing all our friends, relatives and neighbors at the dedication of the Square in his honor.

That's What Friends Are For

On Friday, May 29, the Life Focus Center threw a surprise birthday party for me at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

I've been with the Center for seven years. In my eyes the "L" in Life stands for love and the "F" in Focus stands for friendship and both together make the Life Focus Center a great place to be.

I'd like to say thank you to the staff and the people at the Center and especially my family for making this a memorable occasion.

With love,
Michael Pratt

Thank You

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank Judy Evers and Leo Boucher of the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services for all their help on getting the lights finally turned on at the Little Mystic. It took over six months, but now the residents of Charlestown can finally walk in that area behind Old Landing and Old Ironsides Ways on a well lit walkway. I appreciate all their hard work.

Sincerely,
Joe Cunha
47b Old Landing Way

Sean And Jackie Sands Say "Thank You"

On behalf of Sean Sands and his wife, Jackie, I wish to thank the people of Charlestown for the generous support and help given at the benefit held at the Irish American Club in Malden.

Over 702 people, including all the Irish bands who donated their time, have given a spiritual uplift to Sean and Jackie after their serious accident.

Thanks to Joe Kelly, Red Murphy, Tom Timmins and Jimmy McLaughlin for handling the door sales; Frank Smith and Tony O'Riordan for acting as masters of ceremonies for the event; the Sound of Erin; and the Charlestown Patriot for publicity; and all the women of Charlestown for handling the raffle.

Sincerely,
John T. Hurley

Support Group For Care Givers In Family Life

Many of us find ourselves in a position of being the one primarily responsible for the care of a disabled or elderly relative or friend. Although we may take on this task with dedication and devotion at first, we often soon begin to experience more distressful feelings that we didn't expect. Resentment and anger at being expected to be at another's beck and call can lead to guilt feelings about being selfish or unloving. Such feelings are very real and are normal, but if they are suppressed and held inside they can become troublesome indeed for both parties involved.

A small group of people who are or have been in this position have recently found it very helpful to share their experiences with each other on a regular basis. They have learned that expressing their thoughts and feelings with other care givers enables them to feel better inside themselves and to care for loved ones better by taking care of themselves in this way.

The group is planning a new series of sessions and welcomes new members. If you are interested in becoming a participant, please call Marion Wood at 242-4919 or Diane Armstrong at 242-2990 before June 12. A nominal fee will be charged.

Constitution's Bicentennial Celebrated In Charlestown

The Boston office of the National Conference of Christians and Jews (NCCJ) began a series of summer programs that invite Americans to "Sign On to the Constitution" last Friday in Charlestown aboard the USS Constitution. Former Chief Justice

Warren Burger, Chairman of the National Commission on the Bicentennial, Mayor Raymond Flynn, Senator Edward Kennedy, invited guests and members of the greater Boston NCCJ Youth Council kicked off the project by signing their names to a facsimile of the U.S. Constitution in honor of the original 39 individuals who signed the document 200 years ago. Commander Joseph Brown, Commanding Officer of USS Constitution welcomed the gathering to the ship.

The "Sign On" project is part of the National Conference of Christians and Jews on-going Living Constitution project. Americans of all ages are invited to celebrate the bicentennial by signing a facsimile of the Constitution. Signatures will be collected by NCCJ regional offices throughout the country and presented to President Ronald Reagan during the bicentennial celebration on September 17.

The Greater Boston office of NCCJ will host several "Sign On" programs throughout the summer: Visitors to the John Hancock Observatory and the USS Constitution can "Sign On" from now through July 31. In addition, NCCJ will sponsor "Sign Ons" during the June 20 Unity Day on the Boston Commons and during the Fourth of July festivities on the Esplanade.

The "Sign On" project began in the Fall of 1986 when NCCJ distributed its Living Constitution curriculum kit to elementary and secondary schools across the country. Students who participate in an activity in the curriculum kit may "Sign On" to the Constitution. In addition, the Constitutional facsimiles are available for use by schools and community organizations. Both the curriculum kit and the "Sign On" project are endorsed by the National Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution.

SIGNING THE CONSTITUTION: Boston Mayor Raymond L. Flynn, along with Senator Edward M. Kennedy and former Chief Justice Warren Burger, attended a reception in honor of the bicentennial of America's Constitution on Thursday, May 28. The event was held aboard the document's namesake, the "USS Constitution." Mayor Flynn is shown signing a replica of the original Constitution as former Chief Justice Burger and Senator Kennedy look on.

On Her Beat For 25 Years

Mary Fullerton-Walsh, a crossing guard for Saint Francis de Sales school in Charlestown, has patrolled her beat for twenty-five years. It's her job to keep the youngsters safe from the heavy rush of trucks and cars along Bunker Hill Street as they travel to and from their schools and bus stops.

"I've never had a problem keeping my crossing safe," says Fullerton-Walsh, in her wonderful brogue, "I've lived in Charlestown since 1954 when I came over from Ireland, and I believe I know every bus driver, truck operator, and motorist who comes along here. They all wave to me and pay careful attention when I'm crossing my kids."

Since 1962, Mary has borne the hardships of the job with dignity and quiet strength. "The winters are cold and early in the morning, up here on the hill, the sun is blinding — it can be dangerous for drivers and the children." But she deals well with these challenges and the stop-and-go schedule of three daily shifts.

"After years on the job you get used to it," she said.

It's the kids that keep me going. It seems like I just get to know them and make buddies with them, and then they're walking their own kids along to school." (reprinted courtesy of "The Boston Police Report")

Tutors Needed

Children's Films

The Film Program for Children will be held at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street on Tuesday, June 9 at 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

The features will include "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" in which Mickey Mouse, as a sorcerer's apprentice, uses magic to help clean up; Donald Duck tries to get his "borrowed" boat back from Chip 'n Dale in "Chips Ahoy;" and Pluto gives chase to a mail-stealing turtle in "Pluto's Surprise Package."

In addition to these films, "Test Pilot Donald" will be shown at 3:30 p.m. only. In this feature, Dale takes control while Donald Duck tests his model plane.

The suggested reading in conjunction with this program includes: Walt Disney's Adventures of Mickey Mouse by Disney Productions, Mickey and the Haunted House by Walt Disney Productions and The Magic Book by Willo Davis Roberts.
