FLYING OPEN CUP START

Miami FC has begun its 2018 U.S. Open Cup campaign with two convincing victories

The first was a 3-1 road victory against FC Miami City.

The Orange and Blue followed that up with a dominating 4-0 win over Red Force FC, a match which they controlled from start to finish.

Going into the Second Round, Miami seems to have carried over its 2017 Open Cup form to 2018.

FAMILIAR FOE

Wednesday night will be the third match Miami FC and Miami United FC play in the 2018 season.

The first two matches were a home and away split, with both ending in 1-1 draws.

Both matches were highly contested and fiery, as 9 yellow cards and 4 red cards were handed out.

With both teams evenly balanced and testy, Wednesday night should provide some fireworks.

MATCH NOTES

OPEN CUP POWERHOUSE

Miami won its second Open Cup match of the 2018 season on Wednesday, beating Red Force FC 4-0 at home.

Dating back to last season, Miami has now won six of its last seven Open Cup matches.

Miami has also accumulated an impressive plus-11 goal differential in those matches.

Throughout that span, it has beaten two PDL teams, one USL team and two MLS teams. A splendid tournament resume to this point for the Orange and Blue.

PLAYERS WITH CUP PEDIGREE

The Miami FC will have a distinct advantage going into the match against their intracity foes: Open Cup experience and success.

Of the 26 players on the roster, 20 have taken part in Open Cup matches previously. And 16 have five or more appearances in Cup matches.

Jaime Chávez, Aly Hassan and Jeff Michaud have scored a combined 14 goals in 16 Open Cup appearances.

With so many players that have experienced success in the Open Cup previously, Miami can hang its hat on going into Wednesday's matchup with a bit of an edge over its opponent.

MIAMI FC PLAYERS TO WATCH

Daniel Vega might be nearing his mid-30s, but he is showing no signs of slowing down.

Miami's No. 1 keeper continues to make acrobatic, clutch saves that have kept scorelines low.

Vega hasn't given up more than one goal in a match since October 18 of last year, and has conceded just twice in his last three Open Cup matches.

With a 0.800 goals against average and 12 saves in five total matches this season, Vega is in top form between the posts.

Vincenzo Rennella has adapted very well to a new role in 2018.

Used as a winger and striker last season, Rennella has taken on more of a holding midfielder position under head coach Paul Dalglish and performed admirably.

With his dribbling ability, passing prowess and exceptional vision, Rennella's traits fit the position perfectly.

Rennella has been able to dictate tempo and control Miami's offense from a more deep-lying spot on the field in 2018.

NEWS

WATCH MIAMI FC 2 HOME MATCHES

The Miami FC 2 announced recently that all of its home NPSL matches in 2018 will be available for fans on MiamiFC.com.

The Miami FC Broadcast Network has teamed up with Stretch Internet to provide the Miami FC Faithful with the quality broadcast they have grown accustomed to.

Bruce Silverman, the Voice of the Miami FC, and analyst Juan Arango are back in the booth for their third year with the Miami FC Broadcast Network.

UP NEXT

If Miami FC wins, it will advance to the Third Round of the Open Cup and play next Wednesday night.

That subsequent Open Cup match will be played on the road against the Tampa Bay Rowdies or Jacksonville Armada FC.

Regardless of whether Miami FC wins this Wednesday or not, the Orange and Blue will return to NPSL action on Saturday, May 26.

The Orange and Blue will take on Palm Beach United on the road in that match.

MIAMI FC TECHNICAL STAFF

PAUL DALGLISH HEAD COACH

The son of legendary Scotland international, Celtic and Liverpool forward Kenny Dalglish, Paul enjoyed a successful playing career through the ranks of the Premier League and the Scottish Premiership before heading to the MLS in 2006. He won the MLS Cup twice with the Houston Dynamo in both of his seasons with the club, in 2006 and 2007.

After working in the Houston Dynamo Academy in 2009, Dalglish began his coaching career as manager of the Tampa Bay Rowdies in 2010. From 2012 to 2013, he managed the Austin Aztex of the PDL. Under Dalglish's tutelage, the Aztex reached the Conference Finals in 2012 and won the league championship in 2013, a year in which Dalglish was named PDL Coach of the Year. Dalglish became an assistant coach with Real Salt Lake in 2014, before returning to lead the Aztex in early 2015. In November of that year, Dalglish was named Head Coach and General Manager of Ottawa Fury FC. After two seasons with Ottawa, Dalglish joins The Miami FC.
