

Tech Avion Trading Guide!!!

Description

Tech Avion is one of the newest trading methods which has seen many traders rise to the top of the transfer profit tables in FIFA 18. This method has been headed by the French trading community, with many of them making hundreds of thousands of coins profit per day! The basic concept of the method is the buy a card during rewards or weekend sell off, when they have taken a slight dip in price, apply 99 contracts, 99 fitness and a 200 coin chemistry style if the card doesn't already have one. Then relist the card for a higher making a few thousand coin profit after tax.

Detailed Analysis

From a basic understanding you might think why it is worth all this effort for a couple thousand coin profit. The answer is because you do this with lots of cards at the same time. Not the same card, a mixture of special cards and players which have a demand, but we will go into detail later about what cards are best used! In FIFA 18 consumables are much cheaper than ever before due to the rise in SBC's. A lot more packs are being opening causing the prices to squad fitness, chemistry styles and contracts to be very low and these are only going to get lower in value once Team of the Year drops shortly. Most people have a stock pile of consumables in their club which they will never use, personally I have thousands of gold contacts and thousands of fitness cards from doing the bronze pack method (trading guide about BPM soon to be released). The same goes for chemistry styles, it is best to apply a chemistry style which best suits the player's position. If possible snipe or buy a player with a good chemistry style already on them such as Hunter, Hawk, Anchor or Shadow. This will maximise the profit!

It is also very important to have managers in your club which will boost the amount of contracts a player receives due to the +1/+2/+3 negotiation's. This will save you coin in the long term!

Just as an example before we get go into more detail about Tech Avion, if you are making 4,000 coins per card and sell 20 cards per card, that 80,000 coin profit per day!! This is why the experts of this method have 40m+ coins!

The Method

Step one – Snipe or win players on bid during times when the market is at its lowest such as rewards, Sunday sell off from weekend league, promo packs or even Monday when pre order packs get released. If possible try and get ones with high amount of fitness and contracts, it will save you time and a small amount of coins later on! Ones with good chemistry styles will also save you coins!

Step Two – Add all your Tech Avion players in a squad, to make it easier to apply 99 fitness to all! Apply the contracts and chemistry styles! The chemistry styles to apply are position dependant and most can be won on bid for 200 coins like backbone etc.

Step Three – List all the players you have bought for 1 hour, using the table below. I will explain the table made by one of the top French trader's @BadGones269.

How much you paid for the player!

The amount you add on extra for Tech Avion. Example purchase player for 30k, list for 35.5k.

How much profit you will make once it sells!

180K - 190K	20500	10000/10500
190K - 200K	21500	10500/11000

Step Four – Keeping listing the players that don't sell every hour, it might take a 5-10 listings but they will sell eventually.

Step Five – Reinvest the profit you have made from the first group of players into buying more players the second time round and keep going until you are listing 20/30/40 players at once and have a rolling.

The Players

Low Budget

There is a mixture of the players you can use in Tech Avion, you can have a lower budget one which involves players such as Jesus, Vardy & Bellerin. Cheap players which have a good depend due to them playing well in game. These cheaper players have a different table which shows you have much to list them for and how much profit you will make.

The low budget table works the same as the first table discussed. In the first column you have how much you purchased the card for. Second column is how much extra you add onto the purchase price and the third column is how much profit you will make!

Medium Budget

The second type of player you can use for Tech Avion is the more expensive, high rated players which are used in a lot of people's weekend league team, meaning they will always has a demand. These are players such as Alabe, Reus, Zlatan and many more. See below a photo which displays a good range of cards to use!

High Budget

There is also a third type of card which you can do Tech Avion with and that is special cards! These include Informs, TOTGS, Hero, Scream and OTW/PTG cards. This is the most profitable method but also the highest budget. The special cards which are best to use are the ones which people use in their squads.

It is the same with all three different budget methods, all the players won't sell on the first time of listing. You have to keep listing until they sell but they will all sell to lazy buyers at some point!

Warnings!

With any trading methods there are negatives and possible risks involved! If you are in the middle of listing these cards and a big promo drops like TOTGS or TOTY then prices will fall leading to all player prices to decreasing as well which means you might not make any profit of those cards. This being the case I wouldn't recommended when we get close to TOTY because the market is decreasing in value. If you are doing it close to TOTY then make sure you sell your cards as quick as possible and wait until 6pm GMT for EA to make a possible announcement before buying more cards.

Another point to note is that if you run out of contracts in your club, fitness cards or chemistry styles, then you will still make profit but it will be slightly reduced because you have to spend coins on the consumables.

Don't get greedy, don't list players higher than the table above suggest because they might sell after listing them for several days but you could have taken that profit and reinvested a couple times over and made a greater amount of profit!

If there are subscribers reading this who haven't done Tech Avion before, I would recommend just starting out with smaller amounts with the lower budget Tech Avion until you build up enough coins or confidence to use higher budget cards!

Experts in Tech Avion

I am not an expert in Tech Avion, I have a very good understanding and have used it successfully in the past but there are people on twitter which their whole account is dedicated to Tech Avion. Many of them are French speaking but you can get a basic understanding and further your knowledge on the trading method. @Badones269 @Dutsinho & @Romromman19 are just a couple examples, there are more out there!

Thank you reading my trading guide on Tech Avion and once again thank you for subscribing to my on Ultimate Trader Club!!! Anyone and everyone can use this method to make bank and let me know how you get on with it in the future!!!!
