My current GF have been reading those 50 Shades books nonstop, so I surprised her one night and got out the Sinful Pink Wrist Cuff that I had bought for her. She was obviously a little shocked, but more inclined over the fact that I needed ordered something online; I will barely turn your computer on, than the nature from the package.

She wasn't hesitant at all, and after one go through the cuffs rushed off to placed on her sexiest lingerie. Up to now, so good. She came out looking amazing, and that i took the cuffs and set them around her wrists. Are put easily with an adjustable length and a buckle that kept the restraints securely on, but without the need for a lock and key. I then took my belt and tied them to the headboard, leaving her within my mercy.

I have to say she looked incredible inside the cuffs, with the shiny pink vinyl around her wrists. In fact she looked so great that I had to remove the next surprise, the matching Sinful Pink Blindfold. I took my own time with her, using my hands and my mouth to offer her pleasure, and in between I snuck in another final surprise which had her gasping, some soft caresses from the Touche Tickler in Pink.

I'm fairly sure that I could get just about anything I want after what I just surprised my GF with, and fulfilled a few 50 Shades fantasies, but all I really want is to try it again.
