Selling Your Home?

WHAT WILL HIGHER MORTGAGE RATES DO TO THE SALE OF YOUR HOME?

When mortgage rates go up, some buyers will hurry up to buy in order to get a lower rate.

Result: A short flurry of sales. We are seeing that happen now.

When mortgage rates stay up, higher payments knock many buyers out of the market. One solution for higher mortgage rates is the choice of an adjustable rate or convertible mortgage, allowing the buyer to qualify at a lower initial interest rate. We can guide a buyer to an adjustable or convertible mortgage that works for them.

Planning And Zoning Committee Setting Agenda For Addressing Local Issues

by Mary Ziniti

The Planning and Zoning Committee of the Neighborhood Council held a meeting on September 10 to form the community panel that will assist in rezoning decisions, and to discuss possible topics for future meetings.

The Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) is working with the Committee and the panel as they establish an Interim Planning Overlay District (IPOD) in Charlestown. An IPOD provides temporary zoning regulations for an area where the Zoning Commission has determined that current zoning may be inappropriate. These temporary regulations may stay in effect for a maximum of two years; afterwards, new zoning may be implemented by the City.

Dave Armametti of the BRA supplied the gathering with a copy of the zoning code from the City and a workbook containing Charlestown demographics. Ar-mametti told the group not "to be intimidated by the technical stuff" in the code book as it is to be used as a reference. He added that the workbook should be taken as a "point of departure" and not as the final guide.

The Committee and the panel members concluded that additional information need be gathered as they set their agenda. In future meetings, the BRA will explain the zoning code, a traffic study will be submitted and a study will be made of variances granted in Charlestown in the last year.

In addition to gathering information, the Committee decided to invite representatives from other Boston Neighborhood Councils who have already worked on IPODs in their area to the September 17 meeting. Chairman Dennis McLaughlin stressed that these individuals would assist with process and procedure to save the Charlestown community from making time consuming errors. The three communities suggested include: Port Norfolk, Brighton/Allston and East Boston.

The Committee and the panel concentrated much of the meeting on future topics of discussion such as conflicts in neighborhoods where both residential and business zoning exist, the effect the Committee may have on variances, and general zoning labels established now that do not specify development in the future.

McLaughlin questioned whether decisions that the Committee makes now could later cause a restriction on the use of variances. Rich Johnston of the North Area Task Force said that legally the Committee and the panel have nothing to do with variances. Once the zoning code is done, he added, the theory is that everything the community needs is already supplied so that variances become unnecessary. However, Johnston also said that the Committee should not be so restrictive in their zoning decisions that they force people to obtain variances.

McLaughlin also questioned the effect current zoning decisions could have on the future of Mishawum or the Bunker Hill Housing Development or the possibility of one day having a nursing home in Charlestown. In both cases, it was said that as long as an area was identified as a particular zoning category, future

Chairman Tom Cunha announced that Myerson/Allen and Crowninshield Corporation will be present to review their development proposals with the committee.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE OF CHARLESTOWN

For the past three and-a-half years I have had the honor and distinction to represent you — my friends and neighbors — in City Government as your City Councillor.

During that time I have applied my energies and abilities to ensure that your needs and concerns were addressed fully and satisfactorily.

Being a full-time elected official has provided me with an opportunity to make a difference in our district.

Numerous community organizations and thousands of individuals have called upon my office at a time when a cause or concern warranted my interest and assistance.

Whether it has been problems ranging from public safety issues, transportation for our elderly, recreational programs for our children, housing and employment assistance for those less fortunate, or a contribution to guarantee the continuation of a proven and effective program — I have done my best to lessen the burden or completely eliminate the problem.

In the performance of my duties, I have been able to establish a reputation of being objective, effective and sincere. I made a commitment to you when you first elected me which still holds true today — "I would have an open door to all constituents and an open mind on issues of significance. And most importantly, I would never betray the trust and confidence the people of Charlestown placed in me to represent them full-time and effectively."

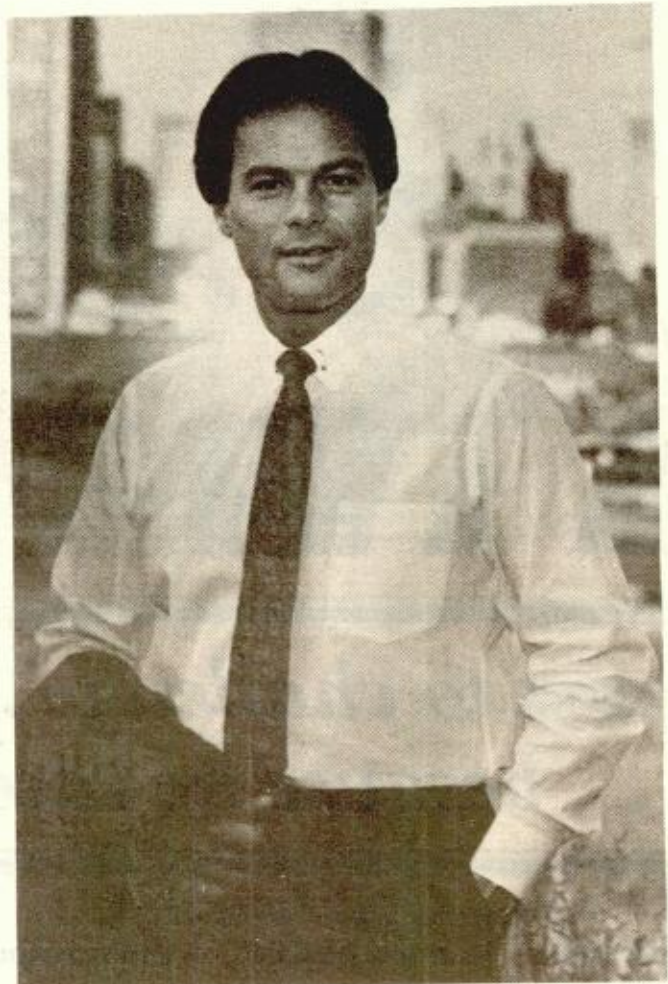

I ask you now, publicly, to cast your vote of confidence on my proven performance.

In return, I will continue to represent you in a manner which will make you proud.

In conclusion, my family and I are deeply grateful for your continued friendship and assistance.

Sincerely,

Robert Travaglini

Treasurer Crane noted that this money has been reported to the Treasury as unclaimed by insurance companies doing business within the Commonwealth.

Ground Breaking Ceremonies For New Housing To Be Held On Saturday

Residents of Charlestown are invited to attend the official ground breaking of the Townhouse Development being built by the Charlestown Economic Development Corporation (EDC). The ceremonies will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Saturday, September 19 at the site on Main and Baldwin Streets.

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn will be the guest speaker.

The EDC's first development project is an example of a partnership between the City, the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) and the neighborhood. It is a $3.2 million construction project comprised of 26 townhouses. There will be 13 affordable units and 13 market price units, six of which will be two-family dwellings.

The Board of the EDC, chaired by Thomas S. Cunha, has set as its goal the "highest quality at the fairest price, in the shortest time."

The affordable units will benefit from City of Boston linkage funds and various site improvements which will be paid for by the BRA and the City. The EDC proposal featured the highest percentage of affordable units of which 70 per cent will go to first-time home buyers who qualify for the Massachusetts Housing/Finance mortgage money. Construction financing is being provided by the First Mutual Bank of Boston, which will also make available permanent mortgage funds for the market rate units.

The EDC will conduct a public lottery to attract qualified first-time home buyers for the 13 affordable units. The lottery is planned for the early part of 1988.

The site along Main Street was once the H.P. Hood parking lot and the scene of many Kiwanis carnivals in the 1950's.

The homes will all have at least two parking spaces at the rear of each building. The City of Boston will construct a new road at the rear of the parcel.

President Tom Cunha commends his fellow Board Members, all neighbors, and residents of Charlestown for their persistence in this nearly three-year effort. Cunha stated, "This will give us an inspiration that local people can share in the real estate boom by getting both jobs and housing."

The EDC proposal gathered the most local support last Spring when the EDC and three other developers competed for the BRA designation. BRA Director Stephen Coyle stated, "The Charlestown EDC has worked very hard and we at the BRA have been able to secure linkage funds which will allow this quality housing to be sold to local residents at affordable prices."

Both Cunha and Coyle hope that this success will be followed in the future with more affordable housing sponsored by the Charlestown EDC.

The members of the Board of Directors of the EDC are: Tom Cunha, president; Dave Dow, vice president; Eric Philippi, treasurer; Joe Foley, clerk; Peter Looney; Carol Bratley; Dan Kovacevic; Jim Hall; Rose Woods; and Kevin Roche.

The housing consultant for the EDC is Alice Krapf Associates and the architect is William Lamb. Also, William J. Galvin, Jr. of Bunker Hill Real Estate will do the marketing of sales and the attorney for the development is John L. Tobin.

The EDC's Vice President, Dave Dow, is also the Executive Director of Local 218 Carpenters' Union. The Carpenters' Union has provided technical support and encouragement to the EDC because it supports the dual goal of jobs and housing for Boston residents.

The development should take approximately ten months to complete. The EDC hopes to be an example and standard of good housing for local residents and an encouragement to other friends and neighbors to step forward and work for the goal of increased home ownership by long-time residents.

"A Promise Of Permanency" Exhibit Opens At Charlestown Navy Yard

by Mary Ziniti
"In 1789 (two years after the Constitutional Convention), cautious, but optimistic, Benjamin Franklin observed that our Constitution had 'an appearance that promises permanency.' The past 200 years have proven Franklin correct." So reads an introduction to the IBM computer exhibit that celebrates the bicentennial anniversary of the United States Constitution located in the National Park Service Visitor Center, Building Five, in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The Constitution of the United States has survived the turmoil of the Civil War in the 1860s, allowed women to vote in 1920 and now joins the computer revolution of the 1980s. The computer exhibit, "A Promise in Permanency," is sponsored by IBM and the Boston National Historical Park, and includes a colorful video display that visitors may touch to bring alive historical facts about the nation's chief governmental charter.

This traveling exhibit is based in part on a permanent exhibit at the Independence National Historical Park Visitor Center in Philadelphia. The Philadelphia exhibit is presented by the National Park Service and funded by Bell of Pennsylvania, a Bell Atlantic company, with support from IBM.

The 1,500 square foot exhibit — one of three constructed by IBM — will be on display at the Visitor Information Center until January 8, 1988. The center is open to the public, free of charge, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week.

In one of the programs — "The Constitution in Our Lives" — visitors touch select any of 85 topics involved in Supreme Court decisions, from cigarette warnings to the death penalty. Constitutional text pertinent to the topic appears, and videodisc footage of significant news events relating to it may be viewed.

A second program — "The Constitution Through 200 Years" — offers a moving time line of images from 1787 to 1987. Touch-sensitive pictures of news-making people, events and court cases may be selected for more information on their historical significance.

Photographs, a time-line mural and a display case focusing on framers of the Constitution complete the exhibit.

ROY BLOUNT, JR.

To mark the opening of the exhibit, IBM and the Boston National Historical Park sponsored a dinner on September 9 that featured Roy Blount, Jr. as the guest speaker. Author, humorist and contributing editor for Atlantic magazine, Blount is also related to William Blount, a signer of the Constitution.

The address by the 20th century Blount focused on a theme similar to that which appeared in a recent edition of IBM's corporate magazine called Think, entitled "If I Had Been A Delegate." Blount hypothesized what could have happened if he had been at the 18th century Constitutional Convention with 20th century knowledge.

The IBM exhibit on the Constitution at the Navy Yard should be on everyone's must-see list.

WHO CARES ABOUT YOU?

I DO!

I'm Maria DiLibero and I want to be your City Councillor.

Dear District One Voter:

More than a quarter of a century ago, I was a teenager arriving at Logan Airport from Italy, alone, with just pocket change, and no knowledge of the English language.

Today I am Mrs. Maria DiLibero, a successful business woman, a mother of three grown children, a community leader, and a candidate for the Boston City Council.

My first love, besides my family, is public service and for the past 17 years I have been involved in much of the effort behind the political careers of such popular public figures as Joseph Timilty, Representative Emanuel Gus Serra, Dennis Kearney and Suffolk County Sheriff Bob Rufo.

Why the City Council? Because I want to give something back to my neighborhood, my district and my city for the wonderful opportunities I received. President Kennedy said each one of us can make a difference. What better way to try than through public service?

Over the past year, I have campaigned long and hard throughout the district. My campaign has centered on the issues of affordable housing, safe and clean streets, manageable traffic, and an educational system that prepares our children for a viable future.

With your support, and your vote on Tuesday, September 22, 1987, we can address these problems and find workable solutions.

Thank you,

"Something For Everyone" Planned For Harborpark Day

Mayor Raymond L. Flynn announced that the city's third annual Harborpark Day, scheduled for September 19, will be part of the festivities Boston is staging to observe the bicentennial anniversary of the United States Constitution.

Events and activities on Harborpark Day will be held at both the Charlestown Navy Yard and Christopher Columbus Park on the downtown waterfront, from noon to 5:00 p.m.

Mayor Flynn said, "Harborpark Day is intended to promote greater awareness of Boston's historic harbor and this year, as we celebrate the bicentennial of the Constitution, we will focus the Harborpark celebration on sites that are so important to the history of this country. In fact, it was at the Navy Yard that this country's first naval warships were built. The naval vessel which bears the name of the Constitution was the first ship to be overhauled at the Navy Yard and has been berthed there intermittently since 1812.

"So an event which helps draw attention to the city's efforts at revitalizing its waterfront and preserving its maritime heritage also provides the setting for helping us observe our country's proud history. The events planned at the Navy Yard and Christopher Columbus Park will highlight the progress made towards expanding opportunities for public access, recreation and economic growth on the harborfront," noted the Mayor.

At the Navy Yard, there will be a tent for children's games, a performance featuring Liam Tiernan and Friends Irish Folk Music, comedy acts from Play It Again Sam's, music by the Strawberry Jam Band, the Roots Reggae Band, the Barrence Whitfield Band, a review of the Broadway play "SheBoppin," which will soon open at the Wilbur Theater, the Susan Linn Puppet Show, the Chinese Cultural Dance Group of Chinatown performing Chinese dances, and performances by the City Lights dance troupe.

There will also be a fish fry at Shipyard Park sponsored by The Raymond Group with the $1 charge being donated to the Courageous Sailing Center.

At Christopher Columbus Park, there will be a concert by the United States Army Band from Fort Devens, the New Dimension Steel Band, the Ninots Puppet Show, and performances by the A Cappella Singers. In addition, Nike and Poland Springs are sponsoring a walk for people of all ages from Christopher Columbus Park to the Navy Yard.

Boston Redevelopment Authority Director Stephen Coyle said, "The events we have planned are geared to provide enjoyment for the entire family, but more than that, we want people to see the remarkable transformation taking place on the waterfront. The new parks and walkways and marinas at the Navy Yard are here today because of the City's Harborpark policy that requires developers to provide these amenities. At the same time, we have balanced these public areas with a tremendous growth in new housing and new jobs at the Navy Yard. In the past two years alone, we have seen in excess of $200 million invested there and within a few weeks just one employer, Massachusetts General Hospital, will be moving some 900 employees to the Navy Yard."

STRUCTURAL INSPECTIONS

If you have a house for sale, your buyers will probably include a contingency in the contract asking for some time to get a structural inspection. They will hire an expert to look at the way the house is built and to check out the major systems and any appliances that convey.

A professional structural inspector will help your buyers get to know your house and feel comfortable with it. It's not an inspection that results in a pass or fail grade. The buyers will learn important things about the house. How do they find the water cut-off valve in an emergency? Are there any cost-effective energy conservation investments they might want to make after settlement? How should they set up a budget for repairs over the next ten years? Buyers rarely back out of a sale after a structural inspection. Even if there are problems, you have an opportunity to negotiate a compromise early in the transaction, helping to avoid problems that could threaten the sale if discovered later on.

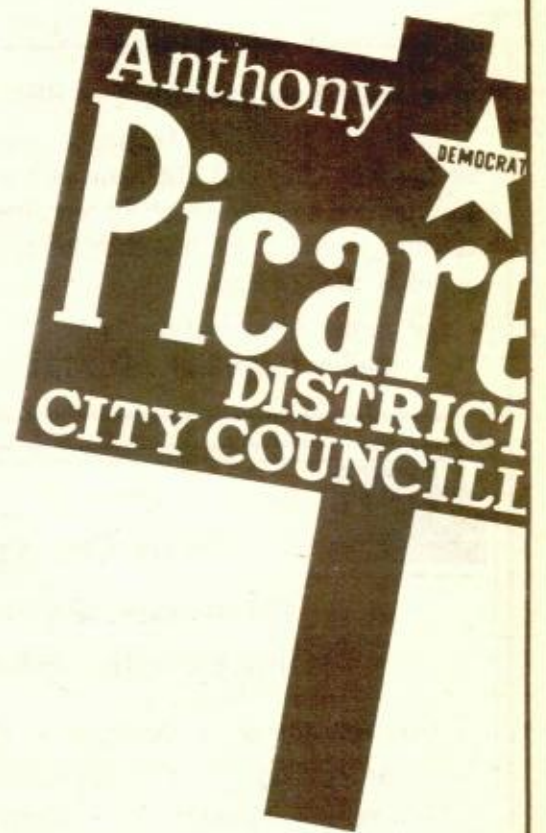

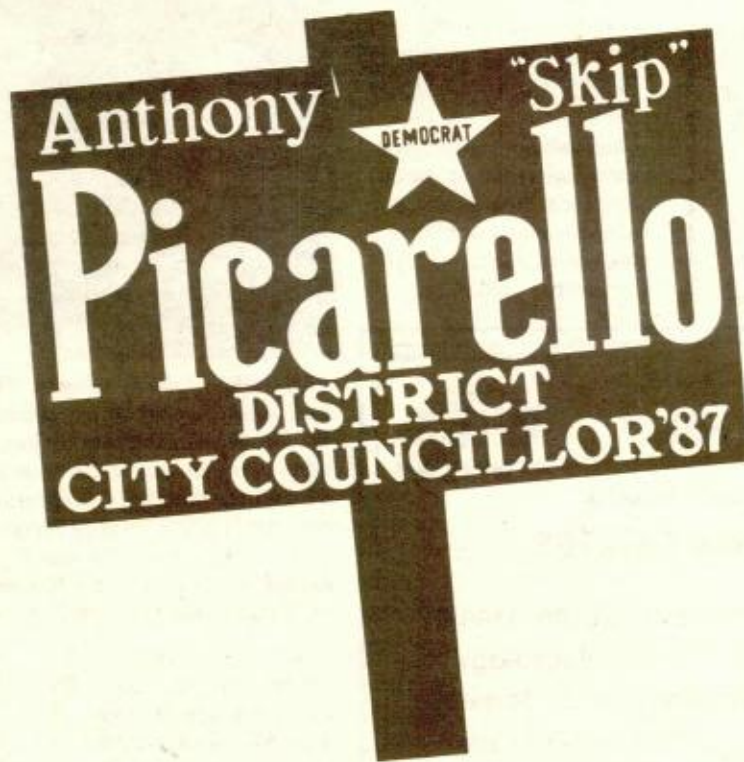

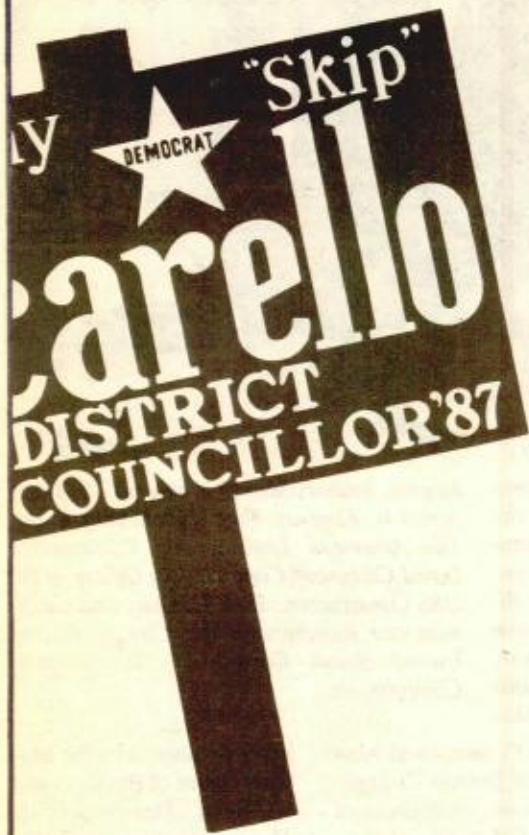

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Century 21, Silva Realty Associates are ready to serve you. Call us at 242-7470 or drop by our offices at 142 Main Street in Charlestown.

Powers Endorsed By Greater Boston Labor Council

On September 10, the Massachusetts Greater Boston Labor Council endorsed Mike Powers for School Committee in District One — East Boston, Charlestown, North End and West End. The group is the largest combined union organization in the Metropolitan Boston area.

Joseph Joyce, Executive Secretary and Treasurer stated, "It gives me great pleasure to announce the endorsement by the Greater Boston Labor Council of your candidacy for School Committee in District One. As an attorney who has represented workers against arbitrary action of employers, you have proven by your deeds what others say only in words."

Powers stated that he was astounded by the endorsement because he did not know that his name had been placed into consideration.

In response to the endorsement Powers said, "This is the highest point, to date, in my campaign for School Committee in District One. It is a wonderful feeling to know that my work on behalf of the down-trodden worker has not gone unnoticed. I will continue to work hard on behalf of those working men and women that are arbitrarily punished by employers in this state."

In addition, Powers was endorsed by Sheetmetal Workers Local 17. Powers said, "The endorsement by Local 17 is near and dear to my heart because of the many friends of mine who are sheetmetal workers that belong to Local 17."

These two endorsements bring a total of nine consecutive endorsements of Mike Powers' candidacy. Along with the above, Powers has been endorsed by the Boston Building and Construction Trades, Laborers Local 22, International Longshoremen's Association Local 799, International Brotherhood of Painters and Allied Trades District Council 35, Bricklayers and Allied Craftsmen Local 3 and Glaziers Local 1044, and Roofers' Local 33.

The endorsements make Mike Powers the most union endorsed candidate for School Committee in the City of Boston.

Powers' name will appear as the last name on the ballot on September 22, 1987. (political release) to discuss her concern over the housing crisis confronting the city.

DiLibero: Affordable Housing The Issue

DiLibero, once again reaffirmed her pledge to fight for affordable housing for all when she is elected to the City Council. "As I campaign door to door in the district, the one concern I hear time and time again is the concern of the cost of housing," said DiLibero. "I pledge myself to work for a sound and firm condo permit process and fight for a fair rent control system."

"Chowdafest" Set For Sunday

Secret chowder recipes are being taken out of hiding... ingredient amounts are being increased to serve thousands... cooking pots are being scrubbed and restaurant owners from all parts of Massachusetts are plotting strategies to win. And all for one reason...

To prepare for the Fifth Annual Horizons For Youth "Chowdafest," taking place Sunday, September 20, under striped tents on Boston Common from noon to six p.m., rain or shine.

About 20 Massachusetts restaurants will be serving samples of their best chowder. Everyone who attends will go from booth to booth tasting as much chowder as they wish from as many different restaurants as they choose and then voting for their favorite. Votes will be tallied for the "Bring Out Your Best" awards at 6:30 p.m., and the restaurant with the most votes will win the "Chowda Champ" title.

Admission to the "Chowdafest" is $5.00 and $2.00 for youngsters under 12 and senior citizens. Proceeds from the event will benefit Horizons For Youth.

known on the Boston comedy scene and are rarin' to go for this performance that will benefit the CWT.

Planning And Zoning Committee Setting Agenda For Addressing Local Issues

developers could only follow the zoning requirement already established.

Johnston said that the Committee is not establishing whether Mishawum remains or not, but it is only labeling the area where it is located as multi-family. He added that if someone tears down those apartments and wants to rebuild, they must meet that requirement.

As for the nursing home,

McLaughlin pointed out the need of one as older Townies have nowhere to go within their own neighborhood. Committee member Steve Spinetto said that they can only allow for institutional zoning that may include a nursing home or as Raymond Group's Robert Sheridan pointed out, a prison. Raymond Group President David Francis added that the Committee can only allow for a nursing home, but cannot force a developer to build it.

The next meeting of the Committee and panel will occur tonight, September 17 at 6:30 p.m. at the BRA Offices, Building 34, Charlestown Navy Yard.

Ceremony Marks Installation Of Memorial Plaque

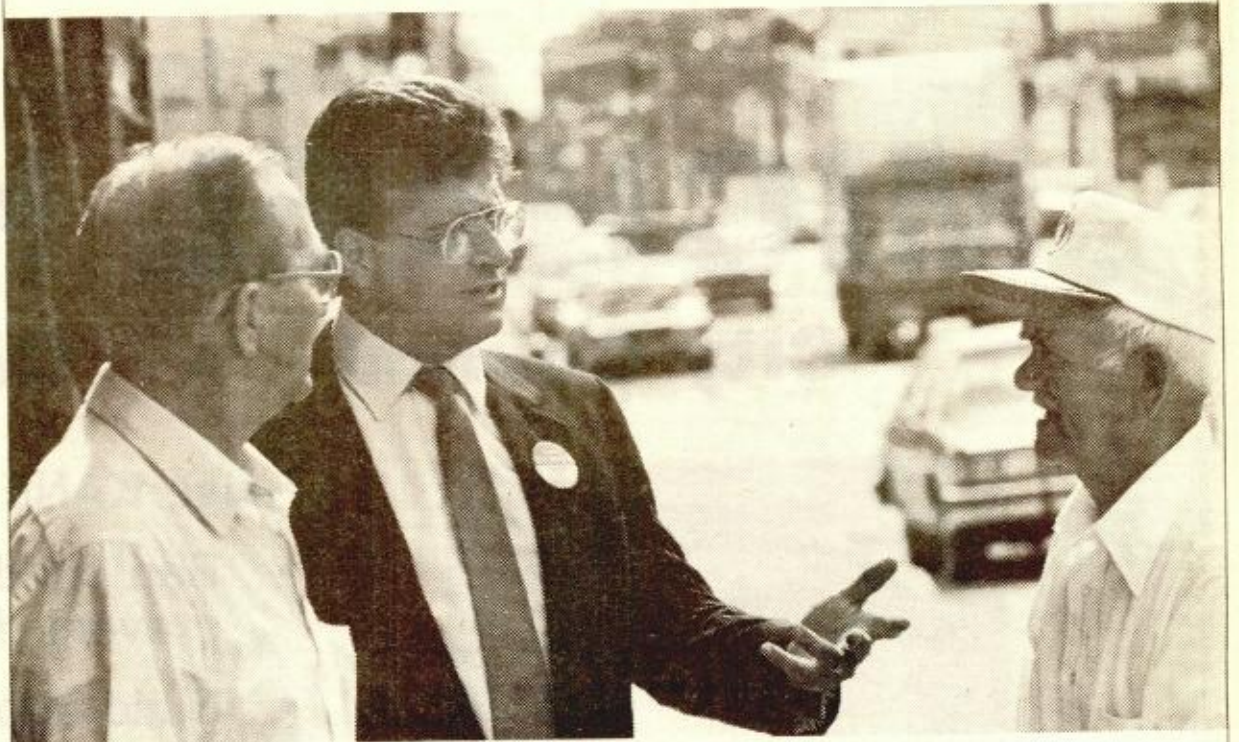

MEMBERS and friends of the Johnson family braved the torrential rains this past Sunday to dedicate a plaque at Medford and Terminal Streets in memory of the late John "Smokey" Johnson. Arrangements for this memorial were made by Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini at the request of family and friends. At the ceremony, Representative Richard Voke stated that there was significance in the fact that so many were in attendance in the rain as "all of 'Smokey's' days were not sunny." Shown (l. to r.) Jenny Whelton, sister; Frances Johnson, wife; Ethel Hazelton, sister; Mary Frances Johnson, daughter; Dorothy Jarasitis, sister; John Johnson, Jr., son; Donna Ryan, daughter, and her son, Bryan, who placed a bouquet of flowers beneath the plaque; Lisa Ryan, daughter; and Councillor Travaglini.

JOE TIERNEY

We need a mayor who will face the issues, not the cameras.

Joe Tierney will give Boston the tough, effective leadership it deserves.

Joe Tierney has the experience. He's the only person elected City Council President five times in the 160 year history of the City Council.

Joe Tierney will face the issues. Issues like rampant crime, arrogant development, skyrocketing housing costs, nightmare traffic, punitive parking tickets, poor schools...issues which the current mayor has ignored.

Vote for a change. Vote for a tough mayor who will provide strong, effective leadership for Boston. Vote for Joe Tierney on September 22nd.

Vote for Joe Tierney Mayor on Tuesday, September 22nd.

Put A Star On His Locker

Kevin Collins, teacher in the English and Fine Arts Departments at Mount Saint Joseph Academy, Brighton, returns to the Mount following a fabulous summer vacation — performing with The Festival Playhouse, a professional theater company in Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Brant Pope, artistic director of the company, recruited Collins for the role of Elwood P. Dowd in "Harvey" and Spettigue in "Charles Aunt." Besides Collins, a Charlestown native who now resides in Dorchester, Brant brought seven other professional actors from Detroit, Boise, New York and Chicago to Kalamazoo for a very successful summer season. Kate O'Brien Collins, Kevin's wife and also an English teacher at the Mount, was the house manager for the theater.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Collins received their MFA in acting from UConn. Kevin had been acting for fifteen years prior to joining the Mount faculty. He has performed in America and abroad in many stage roles as well as in radio commercials and industrial training films.

From C.J. Gianakaris'

Theater review of "Harvey" for The Kalamazoo Gazette:

"... Kevin Collins ... makes the role his own in this production. Possessed of a soft-voiced self-confident manner, Collins forces the audience to believe that a bit of illusion in modern life may be the wisest move after all. Collins is a superb performer who exudes the friendly warmth called for in the script."

This recent professional experience will add even more depth and creativity to the plays Kevin both writes and directs at the Mount. Welcome back star!

Main And Warren Streets Reconstruction Update

by Kathy Giordano

The reconstruction work taking place at Sullivan Square continues with the installation of new street lights, drainage work and curbing being installed. Cable TV, Boston Edison and the New England Telephone Company are working hard to complete their hook-ups before the new roadway is laid next week.

Cement for the sidewalks along Main Street, between Armory and Auburn Streets, is being poured this week. Brick work on the sidewalks from Thompson Square to Devens Street is being completed. When this section is finished, the bricklayers are scheduled to move to the sidewalk outside Constitution Cooperative on Warren Street.

Residents are reminded not to park along the reconstruction route. No parking will be permitted between 6:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. along Main Street, between Sullivan Square and Green Street, next week while the final surface of the roadway is laid. Cars will be towed at the owners expense if left along the reconstruction route.

ALBERT L. "DAPPER" O'NEIL

CITY COUNCILLOR

5 ON THE BALLOT

TO THE VOTERS OF BOSTON:

As you may know, the Primary Elections will be held on September 22, 1987.

I am a candidate for re-election to the Boston City Council At-Large. Let me put the cards on the table and tell it like it is.

First of all, I know that I am not wanted by the people who want to spend, spend and spend your money and mine. As you are aware, I have never had another income and I am not in court practicing law. As an elected official, it is my duty to be here watching over the expenditures of millions of taxpayers' dollars. Although many of my fellow councillors are attorneys, their duties here at the Council should be a priority, but it seems their law practices come first.

For example, I was the only councillor that voted against the budget this year. The budget had 703 new jobs in it and this means, of course, hiring 703 more political hacks. This city needs more police officers on the streets of this city — not more political hacks on the payroll.

I voted against a $30,000 pay raise for 28 of the Mayor's top people here in City Hall. The Mayor sent in the names of 28 people to get a pay increase from $40,000 to $70,000. Also, those who were making a salary of $50,000 a year increased to $80,000. Nice, uh! Did any of you people reading this political ad get a $30,000 a year pay raise where you work?

Another issue that should be addressed is the new cars that were assigned to the so-called heavies. They take the vehicle home with them on weekends for their own personal use, gas charge cards, etc. It would make you sick!

I am well aware of the Gay and Lesbian Alliance, the American Civil Liberties, the Americans for Democratic Action, the radicals and the activists who are against me in my bid for re-election. I am not the least bit concerned or worried about any of them. One of the reasons the Gay and Lesbian Alliance is against my candidacy for re-election is because I was the only one that voted against the sum of $221,000 for the formation of a Gay and Lesbian Commission (with subpoena powers) for their rights. What about my rights?

I am sure that my people are out there and that they will come out and vote to re-elect me to the Boston City Council At-Large. I am concerned about one problem and that is that very few people come out to vote in the primary. The primary is very important.

My job is constant — both day and night. In the evenings, I attend all community meetings. I appear at all of the board hearings that are held here at City Hall and those that are conducted in the districts. People who see me at these meetings will attest to the fact that I am telling the truth. Also, at the hearings conducted in the City Council by the various committees, I am always in attendance with the chairman who is assigned to these hearings. If only you could be here to see what occurs at the Council. What I see makes me understand why people do not want to pay taxes.

I have been endorsed by the following: The Building and Construction Trades Council of the Metropolitan District (I have a 100% voting record on labor); the Boston Police Patrolman's Association; the Auditor of the Commonwealth, Joseph DeNucci; and the Ward One Democratic Committee (East Boston). I anticipate other endorsements as I approach the final election.

All I am asking you, in return for my dedicated service here at the City Council, is one of your four votes for my re-election. I am number five (5) on the ballot.

I am a veteran and I belong to the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the AMVETS, the Silver Star D.A.V. and the Irish American Veterans.

I am asking all the members of these organizations, along with my fellow veterans, the Ladies Auxiliaries, the Gold Star Mothers, and other veteran organizations to come out in the Primary and cast a vote for my re-election.

I have also been called "The Champion of the Senior Citizens" and I will always be there for them. They are the people who helped make this country great.

PLEASE COME OUT AND VOTE IN THE PRIMARY.

Middleboro Derails The Town Team Express In Friday Night Football Action

by Dan O'Neil

The Town Team express was derailed last Friday night by the Middleboro Cobras in a 24-0 football game. The Townies, after shutting out Cape Cod and Rhode Island, had the tables turned on them to the tune of a stomping.

The Townies were never in the game, not even mentally. Paul Soracco tossed a total of four costly interceptions and it was the poorest display of an offensive attack by the Town Team this season.

The Townies started the game with good field position, having the ball on the Cobra 35 after an interception by Number 2, Brian Tobin. The Townies ran two plays up the middle for no gain. A pass was incomplete on third down, and with fourth and nine, Soracco tried a hit to Jeff McCarthy in the end zone and that missed.

Middleboro took over and drove up the field using Town Team penalties as part of their drive. One face mask penalty and a pass interference penalty assessed against the Townies, gave the Cobras their first touchdown. Cobra running back Kelly Brooks bowled it over from the three yard line for the first Middleboro score. The kick was good and the Cobras were in the lead by seven and were never challenged for the lead.

The Townie offense had the ball on their 18 after the kick off. They drove out to the 29 and then back to the 21. The punting team came on without Daryle Walke, whose absence is still a mystery. The Town Team got a tremendous kick off for a total of four yards. Middleboro now had the ball on the Town Team 25 yard line. Five plays later, the Cobras had moved the ball to the ten. The period ended with the score 7-0.

On the first play of the second period, the Cobras kicked a 27 yard field goal and the score was 10-0.

After the kick off, the Townies started their best drive of the evening. The highlight of the drive was a 20 yard catch by Jeff McCarthy, but the drive stalled at the Middleboro 39 yard line and the Town Team was forced into a punting situation. Another bad kick by the home team gave the ball to the Cobras at their 22 yard line. The Townie defense held and forced a punt and took possession at the Town Team 41.

Soracco stepped back to pass on second and ten, tossed the ball down field into the hands of a Middleboro safety. He ran down the sidelines for a 55 yard touchdown. The pass never should have been thrown as all the receivers were covered. This touchdown broke the Town Team's back. Not only was the offense having a bad game, but now they were giving up points as well.

On the next two possessions, the ball was turned over twice — one led to a missed field goal and the other ended the half.

In the second half, the Townies looked like they were playing for the Old Soldiers' Home. They were weak and tired and the Cobras scored again. The final score was 24-0.

All and all, what can I say — the Town Team made a gift of the game to the Cobras.

The offense — nonexistent.

The kicking game — there wasn't any.

The defense — played most of the game and did the job. Alan Roycroft was super, making five sacks.

Star of the game — Alan Roycroft.

The Charlestown Town Team will meet Hyde Park in the last football game of the regular season on Friday, September 18 at 8:30 p.m. at the Lieutenant Michael P. Quinn Athletic Facility on Medford Street.

Neighborhood Residents Vow To "Raise Kane" To The City Council

Neighborhood activist Michael Kane announced his second bid for an at-large City Council seat recently before a South Boston building where families are being forced out by condo conversions. Kane was joined by Maureen Shaughnessy in calling for City Council action to ban condo displacement.

"Since 1985, over 7,000 families like the Shaughnessys have been displaced by condos in every neighborhood of the city," stated Kane. "My election this year will finally give us a majority on the City Council to help Mayor Flynn control housing costs and save our neighborhoods."

Kane was referring to the stubborn 7 to 6 anti-neighborhood Council majority opposed to Mayor Flynn's plan to restore rent control and stop condo conversions.

Kane, the Director of the Boston Affordable Housing Coalition, led the field of challengers to the long time incumbents in 1985, coming in sixth for the four at-large seats after former Councilor Langone. With incumbent Joe Tierney running for Mayor this year, observers give Kane an excellent chance to win the seat which Tierney is vacating.

"My 15 years of experience as a housing advocate, state agency director, and neighborhood leader will translate into effective leadership on the Council for economic justice, improved city services, human rights, and neighborhood empowerment," Kane added.

Kane also announced his program to aid elderly and low income homeowners, improve city services, and give elected neighborhood councils more control over planning and development decisions. "We need affordable taxes now to stop people from being taxed out of their homes," Kane stated. "We also need to give the Neighborhood Council in Charlestown and other neighborhoods more clout in addressing zoning and planning decisions in their communities." Kane is a co-founder of a group seeking a city ordinance to give more power to local councils.

A 1970 cum laude graduate of Yale, Kane attended Yale Graduate School before devoting the past 15 years to community causes in Boston. Kane, 38, currently lives in Jamaica Plain. (political release)

Council Candidate Garrison Calls For Walking Beat Police Force

Althea Garrison, at-large candidate for the Boston City Council, stated, after experiencing a one hour delay for the police to respond to kids throwing rocks at neighborhood residents, "It is important that we implement a city-wide walking beat police force to deter crime."

"I would propose to hire an additional 900 policemen to bring the force up to strength so this city-wide walking beat police force could be implemented.

"The best way to fight crime and make our neighborhoods once more safe is to return to the old fashion way of fighting crime, that is to have a walking beat police force."

She noted, "Our senior citizens are trapped inside their homes after dark for fear of crime and becoming a victim of crime. More policemen walking the beat would deter crime and make our senior citizens feel safer. Also, a get-tough sentencing policy should be put in place so that those who prey on the public will not be returned immediately back on the streets." (political release)

Tassinari Advocates Expansion Of Early Childhood Programs

"The quality of the Boston Public Schools' early childhood program has been called into question by an alarming rise in the number of students kept back in first grade and by reading scores well below national norms on standardized tests."

That's how Boston's own task force describes the condition of early childhood education, said Attorney Stephen Tassinari, a candidate for the Boston School Committee.

"When twenty percent of students in the first grade fail, something is terribly wrong," said Tassinari.

Fortunately, under the leadership of the present Superintendent, the Boston School system itself has recognized the problem and proposed solutions, added Tassinari. Solutions, he said, that are as imaginative as they may be difficult to implement.

"But, in my view they should not deter us from taking that course which will provide the greatest benefit to the young people of Boston."

Tassinari said that Boston had some significant strengths in the area of early childhood education. It is one of the few school systems offering pre-kindergarten (K-1) classes and extended day kindergarten programs to almost 1,200 students.

"Despite the advantages," said Tassinari, "there are significant problems with the early childhood program in Boston."

He said that early childhood education programs are being offered under conditions that severely limit their effectiveness. What is needed is small class size, adequate staffing, staff trained in early childhood education and a good match between curriculum and instruction and the developmental needs of each child.

"I believe early childhood education is one of the best hopes for educating many of Boston's youth," said Tassinari.

Tassinari said that allocating resources to early childhood education is a good investment in the child's education, and makes good economic sense as well. "We'll probably spend many more times the amount of money on remediation and special education than we'll spend on early childhood education," said Tassinari. "I believe it is a challenge worth pursuing."

Picarello Continues To Challenge Travaglini Platform Theme

On these pages last week, Anthony "Skip" Picarello, democratic candidate for district city council in District One, took a hard look at some of the important issues facing the district and what the current councillor's actions have been as they relate to his campaign platform: "Full Time and Effective."

Picarello examined five issues in which Mr. Travaglini has not demonstrated full time and effectiveness for the residents of East Boston, Charlestown, and the North End.

This week, candidate Picarello looks at four additional areas that demonstrate how Councillor Travaglini has not been full time and effective:

- 36 Edward Road, East Boston: A question of zoning came up when a developer planned to make this house a four family instead of a two family. The neighboring residents sought help but found no relief from the councillor and no one could find the proper zoning maps. After seven months of controversy, the "correct" zoning map mysteriously appeared. Fully effective - No.
- Charlestown Navy Yard: When the senior citizens complained about a $50 raise in rent, the councillor said, "It's only $50, you should be happy that it isn't more." Sensitive and Fully effective - No.
- West End: Has received numerous donations from real estate businessmen and developers in the West End area. Can you be effective for the low and moderate housing interest with this special interest group in mind? Not quite.

• K. of C. Hall, Orient Heights, East Boston: He has totally confused and now disregarded the residents in this area. Did he become the liaison for the residents, the city and the developer that he should have been? Fully effective - No.

Again, full time and effective? Certainly not. Picarello believes in action not words or a slogan. Once elected to the city council, Picarello will give you action — action on behalf of citizens so we have no more Antrim Street situations; action so that we solve the traffic problems created by Logan Airport; action so that all the residents have the protection of total eviction ban; action so that senior citizen rights are protested; action so that our streets and neighborhoods are safe for everyone; action so that our public school system can work.

Picarello's past experience as a senatorial aide and as the neighborhood business specialist for the City of Boston prove that he is a man of action.

Picarello will be appearing on the Larry DiCara Cable Show on Saturday, September 19 at 9 p.m. and on Monday, September 21 at 11 p.m.

On September 22 vote for action, not a slogan. Vote Anthony Picarello as your District City Councillor so that you can see what action really means. Picarello, number 1 on the ballot.

Casper Brings His "Dares To Challenge" Message To Voters

Joe Casper, a candidate for Boston City Council/Citywide, brought his campaign message to neighborhood voters this past week. Speaking before a gathering of enthusiastic campaign supporters, Casper asked for a chance to show what he can do as a member of the Boston City Council/Citywide.

Casper said, "Your trust and confidence is very important to me and that's why I have worked so hard to do the job you elected me to do as a member of the Boston School Committee. I told you what I was going to do and I did it! I brought about meaningful change in the City by making government more open, more honest and more responsive and you can depend on me to do the same for you as a member of the Boston City Council."

"People say, 'Joe Casper dares to challenge!' Well, I do, because I care deeply about the real and important value issues of jobs, homes and families."

"During the past several months I've had the opportunity to meet and talk with people from all across this great City. I've listened closely to your hopes, your fears and your concerns for the future of your neighborhoods. I've listened with understanding as you voiced utter frustration with the way city government operates.

"Like you, my vision of Boston is at odds with the reality of Boston."

"I envision a City with clean, safe streets. A City where the delivery of city services is a top priority of the administration and the City Council and where public service is open, honest, forthright and clear."

"I see a City in which our children's education is once again a priority of educators and elected officials."

"I see a City capable of balancing compassion and common sense, molding the two into realistic and workable programs which benefit all residents."

"This is a vision of Boston yet to be fulfilled."

"Almost without exception, you have expressed deeply personal and sincere feelings that something is not right at City Hall, and you want change. That's why I am a candidate for Boston City Council/Citywide and that's why I am asking you for your vote and support on Primary Election Day, Tuesday, September 22nd.

"For a City government that is more open, more honest and more responsive, vote for Joe Casper for City Council/Citywide. I'm No. 6 on the ballot." (political release)

Markis Makes His Case

In an effort to bring out the seriousness of the District One School Committee race, one candidate, Paul M. Markis, has outlined the difference between himself and his opponents.

"We cannot allow another generation of children to be denied a good education. Voters have a responsibility to 'hire' through the election process a candidate who has shown a commitment to and knowledge of education," stated Markis.

Markis, 24, has already established his credentials in the field of education. A past chairperson of the Boston Community Schools City-wide Board, the East Boston Harborside Community School, a teacher/counselor for the East Boston City Roots Alternative High School and this year as an Educational Assistant for the East Boston Adult Basic Education Program, Markis is the only candidate who has worked with school aged students on a full-time basis. "My positions with the Community School and City Roots has given me a special insight into the needs and problems of students and schools in Boston," stated Markis.

Markis cited his experience in the field of education as the difference between himself and the other candidates. "My opponents talk of their legal and real estate experience as reasons why they should be elected to the school committee, I think these are the wrong reasons to run for THIS office!" said Markis before a room of educators.

Markis concluded by stating that he wants to go to the School Committee because teaching is his profession. "I've been involved with education for the past nine years. Some of my opponents started thinking about the Boston schools when John Nucci announced his candidacy for an at-large seat," stated Markis. "Students graduating from Boston schools are not fully prepared for college or job entry, the annual student drop-out rate is almost 20%, special education and early childhood education is being ignored and basic skills are lacking. I think this is wrong and these are some of the issues that I, as a teacher, want to address on the Boston School Committee," stated Markis.

by Kathy Giordano

The Inspectional Services Department of the City of Boston moved a giant step forward in solving the sewage leak problem on Green Street this past week when they summoned all involved property owners, or their representatives, together to discuss the severity of the situation that has persisted throughout the summer months.

According to Jim Vraibel, assistant director of the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, a dye test was conducted that proved that the sewage originated on private property, not from the city sewage line. He stated that all property owners involved have agreed to post bond and pay for the cost of exploratory work that would decide at what point on the sewer line the problem is occurring. When this decision is made, the property owner, or owners, responsible for the sewage leak will be forced to repair the problem immediately.

Dan McNamara, principal inspector of the Housing Division of Inspectional Services, has stated that the residents have accepted their responsibility and have shown good faith to his department to correct the situation.

A temporary metal plate has been placed over the hole created by the sewage drainage to help eliminate the flow and prevent the splashing created by cars traveling up Green Street. This "plate" will remain on the street until the problem is corrected.

Pop Warner Is Back!

Thanks to Matt Stillman Jr. and the Committee, Pop Warner is back for the boys of Charlestown after a year lay-off.

This year there are three teams, A-Team, B-Team and C-Team. These teams are all coached and staffed by wonderful people who volunteer their time to help out the boys. There are also cheerleaders. But, the problem is that there is only one cheerleading team and that is for the A-Team. The reason we don't have cheerleaders for the B and C Teams is that we can't afford three cheerleading squads. It costs us $1,000 to outfit one team of cheerleaders.

The thing is that maybe if we could raise more money for the Pop Warner boys, we would have more than one cheerleading team. It's not only the money we are concerned about, we are also looking for support for the kids. We need people to come and see the kids at the games.

It's embarrassing to go out of town and see the other teams supported by family and friends.

We could use donations of hot dogs, tonic and baked goods.

I know we are a small committee, but with more interest, Pop Warner could be more successful.

Sincerely,
Tom Jackson

Our Thanks

To the Editor,

On Saturday, August 22 over 600 residents of the Bunker Hill Housing Development enjoyed the food, drink, music, games, and entertainment highlighted by the surprise arrival of Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse, Donald Duck, Goofy, and Pluto from Disney World.

While this event is principally sponsored by the Team Police and the Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force, the event was immeasurably enhanced by the generous contributions of local merchants, elected officials, and residents of our community.

For their respective donations and support we would like to extend our sincerest thanks to the following individuals and businesses: City Councillor Robert Travaglini, School Committee President John Nucci, Representative Richard Voke, Senator Fran Doris, Mike Powers, Barrett's, Mount Vernon Restaurant, Warren Tavern, Newtowne Market, Jameson's Ice Cream, Ellis Fireparts, Green Store, Christy's Place, Red Store, Salon 44, McCarthy's Liquors, Jopa's, Jenny's Pizza, Sullivan's Tavern, Collier's Market, The Ultimate Touch, Kerrigan's Flower Shop, Mama Maria's, Dennis McLaughlin, Committee of the Family Picnic, Elizabeth Casey, Pat Pinder, John Rollins, Linda Lacey, Lois Poste and Family, Robert Kane and Family, Kathy Hutchins, Fran Campbell, Roberta Lounsbury, Pat Murphy, Marie Vanski er, Thomas Gilgunn, Tina White, Butsy McGrath, Golden Chopsticks, Billy Wadman, Towne Lyne Cafe, Barbara Mento and Family, Tom Jackson, Johnnie's Foodmaster, Cagney's Video, Amstar Corporation, Allen Jara-sitis, Charles Clifford, B & B Oil, High Pharmacy, Carr's Funeral Home, Dr. Jeffrey Goldman, Joe Travis, Peggy Carolan, Terry Fraga, Grace Pizzurro, Family Shoe Store, Charlene's Hair Salon, Umberto's, the Sweet Potato, Kel-Mac's, Sorelle Bakery, and Jack the Barber.

Special thanks also go to the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services and to the Mayor's Office of Business and Cultural Development for their extraordinary assistance. In particular, we are grateful for the efforts of Leo Boucher, Amy Dominici, Michael Testa, and Rosemarie Sansone.

An AIDS Healing Service Question:

A reflection on healing when not a cure

by Gail Brazil

Are you ready to experience an evening of acceptance, assurance, hope, but most of all love through honesty? Then do read on.

As a non-professional member of a Charlestown parish church, I'd like to reflect and share a little of what might happen to anyone that is open enough to receive the gifts offered at an ecumenical AIDS Healing Service. Such a service will take place at Saint John's Episcopal Church, 27 Devens Street, on Tuesday, September 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Looking back at what I've most poignantly felt after leaving any of these services, two things come quickly to mind.

The first is that this is not a "faith healing." It is the Lord who heals and not our faith. This is not "magic."

Healing is not dependent on saying the "right words," but being in a relationship with Jesus Christ — the higher power. You will find that it is in working with the Lord, and not trying to change God's mind as He goes about seeking to renew His creation, that healing comes.

Also remember, healing is not an alternative dynamic given to the medical profession, but rather an integral part of the Lord's desire to heal the whole person. Healing can differ from a cure as it brings peace even though the physical conflict may remain. This all brings the sense of a continued healing that goes on within me. On a healing level, this seems to me to only come as an out-powering on oneself and what a person is seeking.

The second is being touched by honest love which can be experienced by anyone of us at anytime. This particular gift is so freely given to those who are willing to receive it. This sharing happens not only during the service, but in good conversations that occur at a reception following. For myself, this has opened the doors to some new friends, both with and without AIDS, that had been previously unknown. And while due to the nature of AIDS, the stark reality is such that although some of these friends are fragile, and their friendship may only be available for a short time, the strength I've gained from knowing them passes human understanding.

One final thought comes from a person with AIDS before he left this earthly plane, and that is, "Where there is love, there is no death."

For further information on this service, call 242-1272.

DiLibero Workers Gather To Plan Election Day Push

MARIA DiLIBERO meets with campaign workers to discuss election day strategy in her race for the District One City Council seat.

Several dozen volunteers gathered at the Headquarters of District One Boston City Council Candidate Maria DiLibero last Thursday to discuss election day strategy.

At the meeting, Campaign Manager, Nick DiLibero outlined the strategy for the days leading up to the September 22nd Preliminary Election. "We'll approach this election like the United States Armed Forces. We'll contact the voters by land, air and sea," said DiLibero, referring to the intensive door to door campaigning, phone banking, and direct mail effort the campaign plans.

The highlight of the meeting was the inspirational talk of Council Candidate Maria DiLibero, who stated, "We have been working hard for months; talking to the people of the District one by one, winning support a vote at a time; this is the final push: I need your help more than ever, together we can and will win!"
