

Recently, a Detroit safehouse was destroyed with a concealed explosive device. This device should not have been able to inflict significant damage on its own. We believe it may have been enhanced with an obscure school of technomancy. Specialists were able to recover the following sets of runes, we believe they have been imprinted on the devices the assailants used to carry out the bombing.

Your division is needed to analyze the runes, and identify how they are constructed. Included with this message are the two rune samples we have, and the effects we believe to have come from these runes. We will send you any further evidence as it is found. So far, we have determined that these runes are made of three parts each. Each part conveying a different effect. Placement of the parts does seem to be vital to the magic. You will need to disassemble and alter the runes to figure out what each part is responsible for. Division 12 has been placed at your disposal, you can send them a rune configuration you have assembled, and instructions for the test environment you wish to have it used in. You can expect a report back detailing the effects of the experiment. Due to limited resources, Division 12 can only handle 3 configurations every four hours. They can be contacted via theilluminatedwatchmen@gmail.com

Configuration 1, appeared repeatedly on the clothing the assailant was wearing. He seemed completely unharmed from the blast.

Configuration 2, placed once on the bomb the assailant carried. Which exploded with far more force than should be possible.
