If you are just starting out then start SLOWLY. Try 2x a week at first and then (if you've been consistent) add another day each month. Do not start at 7 days/per week and miss half of them - you'll lose motivation and the amount of discipline required for that level of effort will be too demanding and you'll give up. You are not only training your muscles but also your ability to self discipline yourself ☐ - Once you can master that then you will be in great shape for the rest of your life ☺
