

made-in-china.com deceives consumers and merchants, full of fakes

Made in China has a lot of fakes. Some buyers are greedy and easy to be fooled. Solution Can Be Seen Here

It is true that buyers want to buy fake goods cheaply, which will cause producers to be more willing to produce inferior products because of low cost and large profits. Just as bad money drives out good money, businesses that maintain quality will have no money or even withdraw from the market due to high costs, and manufacturers cannot compete with businesses that produce inferior products. This led to a vicious circle of made-in-china.com, This Is Noteworthy

There are many fake goods on made in China. The main reason is that made in China provides a platform for these artificial fake goods to sell, and the profit of fake goods is high. Made in china.com merchants sell genuine products, which makes it difficult to deduct money. Moreover, there are many ways for merchants to sell fake goods. Once they get the money, they run away without credit and cost. Therefore, they make-in-china.com all fake goods and sell fake goods at will. No one cares and no one cares. Of course, made-in-china.com has a lot of fake goods. This Is Cool

Related Source Here

In short, it is a stroke. I'm afraid we all know this, "brush brush brush" even once became a synonym for the made in China network. According to the introduction of a shopkeeper in front of zhihu.com, for a small shop that is just starting, the only way to become popular is to brush the list / comments. The common method is to use software to generate an order number, and then hire someone or find a company to pay. After Alibaba takes technical measures for this kind of software, it will continue to brush the order number at the delivery point. In general, dozens of orders for a product that is not very popular may seem very popular. Therefore, the sales of many newly opened stores are often very considerable. In this case, we must be careful not to decide to buy just by looking at the comments. Sometimes, if we are a little more careful, we can actually find the trick to brush the bill. Careless people sometimes try their best to write "good" in the medium and bad reviews, which makes people laugh and cry. This Is Noteworthy

Answers Shown Here

Note: the seller of made in china.com said that the products are the same as the original products, factory products and company products. You can go to the counter to inspect the products. The price is extremely favorable and lower than that of the genuine products. Moreover, everything is fake, and you can't buy luxury goods you don't know. These fakes are sold on the made in China. How many fakes do you say! But made in China doesn't care! 63% of the counterfeiting rate belongs to the top-level Shanzhai. It is the king of fake goods of made in China!

At the same time, made in China is good at camouflage. As the name implies, sellers cover up false sales and even create the false impression of selling genuine products. There are many kinds of such methods, and Xiaonei has seen them: stealing beams and changing pillars, pictures are not goods; Skillfully use mosaics to cover key contents and distinguish true from false; Check it Out

If you want to cover up, hide the fake brand name, but give it a hint. However, no matter how the sellers fight guerrilla warfare, the primary task to improve the ranking is to obtain high praise and high reputation. The reason why Xiaonei can get a lot of sales information of fake shoes on the previous search homepage is still here. Then the question comes again. How can these sellers not only impersonate fake goods, but also obtain high ranking and even popular recommendations. This Is Noteworthy

