Killer enters sliding door and exits sliding door. If K/M/KM were targets the path doesn't cross XE. If X/E/XE were targets the path doesn't cross KM. E and K did not reside at the home. Therefore X and M must've been targets.

Imo: look at the map and killers movements.

Why would the killer leave 2 people alive at the scene? Movement was intentional. The kitchen was the entry point. So if MK/M/K was the target(s) the killers route would be kitchen and stairs. That path does not cross with XE. If XE/X/E were the target(s) the killers route would be kitchen and living room. That path does not cross with MK.

Therefore, X and M are the targets imo.

I keep my speculations short. The pictures of neighbors home indicate it would make sense for their camera to be pointed at their driveway with 4+ cars than the street. Dwellers want to protect their property.

Mabbutt, who wrapped up the autopsies Wednesday, previously said the killings were not a murder-suicide. The toxicology reports are still outstanding. She said the same knife was likely used to kill all four victims."
