

Town Loses City Square Improvement Funding

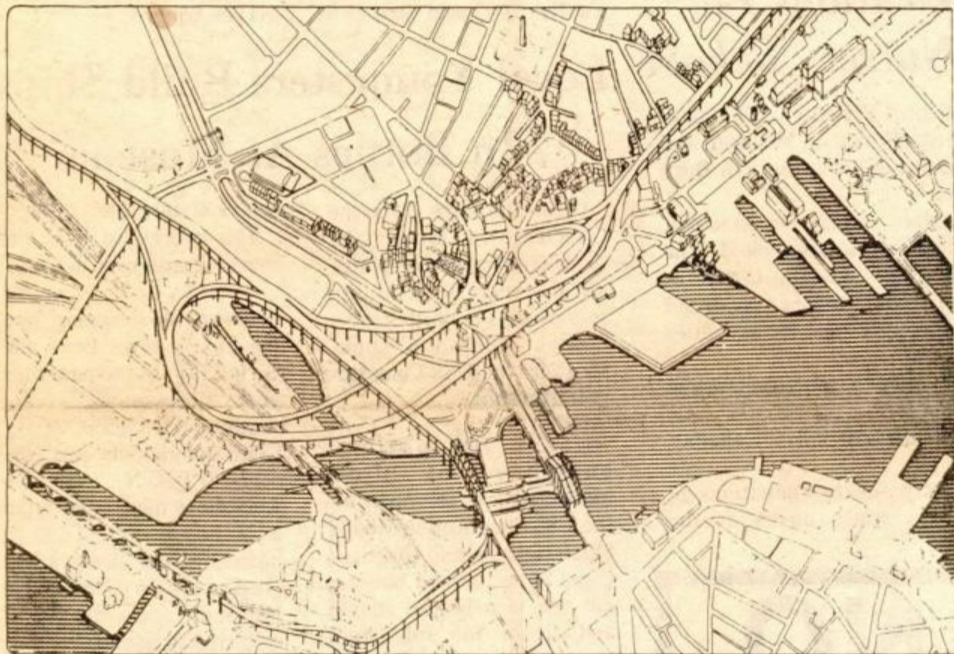

Charlestown residents have been shocked and angered by a recent development in which the U.S. Department of Transportation has refused to provide Federal funding for the tunnels and City Square Street improvements that have been planned as part of the North Area Central Artery reconstruction project.

Instead, it seems that Federal officials are now calling for the retention of all of the overhead ramps and outmoded traffic patterns that currently exist in City Square. Spokesmen for the Charlestown/North Area Task Force, which has been working with the Massachusetts Department of Public Works (DPW) for five years to plan the project, stated that this change of tactics by the feds will mean the loss of over 60 million dollars in private development in the City Square area.

Members of the Task Force subcommittee met this week to compose a letter to Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr. to protest the Department of Transportation's action and are in the process of organizing a community campaign to protest this devastating development.

THE EXPANDED RAMP SYSTEM proposed by the U.S. Department of Transportation is shown with the merging of ramps from the Tobin Bridge, Central Artery and I'93 in the City Square area of Charlestown.

Credit Card Investigation Closed — Questions Unanswered

by Maria Girvin

A vote of confidence and gratitude was given Kennedy Center Executive Director John Gardiner following discussion of a CPA report which showed approximately 40 percent of the center's Master Charge and American Express charges unexplainable, at Tuesday night's special meeting of the Board of Directors, chaired by Board President Jim Cushman.

Board Member Atty. and former Chairman of the State Democratic Committee Gerard Doherty, who made his second appearance in one and a half years of Kennedy Center Board meetings and who has been in defense of Gardiner throughout the board's investigation of a possible misuse of the center charge cards by Gardiner, was the one to make a motion, requesting the vote of confidence and gratitude. This followed critical remarks by Board Member and State Representative Richard Voke against Gardiner's conduct over the charge cards.

Members who gave Gardiner the vote of confidence and gratitude were Mike Donovan, Jean Babcock, Theresa Doherty, Reverend Isaiah Sears, Joe Owens, Helen Lawler, Joe Blaikie, Brian Hickey, Mary Sexton, Gerard Doherty, Moe Gillen, Susan Werman-Dole and Matty O'Neil.

Those opposing the vote were Joe Kent, Charlie

Johnson, Ann Considine, Bob Wallace, Joe Foley, Richard Voke, and John Walsh.

Doherty's motion contrasted sharply with previous statements made by Voke who initially made the motion that a CPA list all the charges made by Gardiner with the Center's charge cards and determine whether they were business related or for other uses.

Forty-two percent of the total money expended by the Center in charges came from charge slips determined by CPA Paul Kiley, formerly of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., as being either marked with personal names or initials and no other information; indicated "personal" expenses of Mr. Gardiner; were not available; or contained no notation.

In studying the CPA's report which listed all

Local Youngsters Build Ships - In Bottles At Museum

Girls and boys from the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club have been learning the secrets of putting ship models in bottles in an 8-week workshop sponsored by the USS Constitution Museum.

Under the patient guidance of Bob Matherson, a member of the USS Constitution Model Shipwrights Guild, participants have learned how to put sea in a bottle, shape and finish the full, add rigging and sails, and finally slip the model of a two-masted Gloucester fishing schooner into the bottle.

This workshop was the most recent event in a continuing cooperation between the Museum and the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club. In the past four years Club members have made scrimshaw, ditty bags and models of CONSTITUTION. These workshops have resulted in a strong friendship between the Education Department of the Museum and this local community agency.

The finished models by these talented 9-to-13 year olds is on display at the Museum from now through May 10. Participants in the workshop were: Michelle Summers, Erin Whealan, John Beresford, Michael Moloney, Irene White, Kelli Whealan, Torri Pappas, Jennifer Walsh, Kim Krupscheck, and April Brennan. Galen Stone, Director of Education for the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club, also participated.

New Community School Council Members Announced

Elected to the Kent/Charlestown Community School Council in an election held April 27th to fill three at-large seats on the Council were Mary Parker, 393 Bunker Hill Street, and Margaret Kent, 71 Elm Street, receiving twenty votes, and Mazie Whelan, 75D Old Landing Way, 19 votes, in winning two year terms. "The Council has conducted two elections in the past month in an attempt to bring new ideas and energy to the Community School Program," stated Michael Griffin, Interim Coordinator. "The Council will now concentrate on developing a credible summer program and planning for the Fall.

It is the intention of the Kent/Charlestown Council to run a moderately ambitious summer recreational program that will target structured activities towards the teenage population while providing some services to the general public. A Field and Track Program will be offered at the outdoor athletic facilities at the Charlestown High Community School. In addition the pool will be open to supplement the recreational swim at the Bunker Hill pool with swim instruction for all ages and pool time set aside for groups such as the retarded and senior citizens. A "Street Theater" is planned for summer evenings, two to three times each week, at the pod area of the Kent Community School. Musicians, dancers, and other performing artists will be invited to present their art. This same area will become the site of a flea market each Friday afternoon and evening. Space will be rented to local residents who wish to set up a table and sell the treasures of their attics, cellars and closets. The rental fee will be used by the Kent/Charlestown Council to offset summer expenses.

"This is a bootstrap operation for the Council," stated Griffin. "We have submitted proposals to several local foundations, corporations and governmental funding sources to provide the Community School Program with the money to repair and add equipment, hire lifeguards and pay nominal expenses for performers in the Street Theater. The Council has set out to prove that the Community School Program can provide important, safe and needed service to Charlestown and we are putting together the resources to do just that."

Assists In Exhibit At Fine Arts Museum

A. DUNCAN SMITH, a designer with the Museum of Fine Arts' Design Group, holds a 17th century musket made by Charlestown gunsmith Enoch Bolton in the early 17th century, and which is part of the arms and armor to be featured in the exhibition, New England Begins: The Seventeenth Century which opened at the Museum of Fine Arts May 5th and continues through August 22. Mr. Smith, a Charlestown resident, was in charge of the project to install this major exhibition.

To Attend Massachusetts Girls State

Miss Kelley Sprague of Charlestown has been selected by T.J. Roberts Unit No. 78 of the American Legion Auxiliary as its representative to the 38th Annual Massachusetts Girls State, to convene at Bridgewater State College June 13 - 18, 1982.

KELLEY SPRAGUE

Miss Sprague is a member of the Junior Class at Mario Umana High School. More than 250 other representatives will come from all parts of the State and will participate in a week's study of local and state government. These girls are selected on the basis of potential leadership qualities.

"Our girls are part of some 18,500 third-year high school girls who will attend the Girls States of the American Legion Auxiliary this year," explained Miss Marie T. Fitzgerald, Director of Girls State.

At Girls State the girls will establish and operate a miniature state government of their own. They will form two political parties, hold conventions, nominate candidates for office, conduct campaigns and hold an election. Officers elected will be installed and the executive, legislative and judicial functions of state government carried out.

Talks by high state officials, leaders in government and other professions, will be part of the Girls State program. The girls will hear about the duties and responsibilities of the various branches of government from men and women actually engaged in government work. Both from practice and study of state government, the girls will return home with a much better understanding of how American Democracy functions. More than 9,500 Massachusetts Girls have participated in this Citizenship Program since its inauguration in 1945.

Two girls from the 1982 Girls State will be selected to represent the girls of Massachusetts at Girls Nation, to be operated in Washington, D.C., under American Legion Auxiliary sponsorship.

Credit Card Investigation Closed — Questions Unanswered

(continued from page 1) charges from both cards between March 21, 1980 to January 22, 1982, there was no way to determine which charges were made under the aforementioned categories. However, these unexplained charges amounted to $2,719 out of a total $6,398 expended by Gardiner on the two cards, the American Express card now defunct because of delinquent payments.

"I'm satisfied, from an accounting standpoint that what I asked for and what the board voted for, is contained in this report," began Voke, as he prefaced a motion to accept the accountant's report and close the investigation of the charge slips. "I'm not concerned about an accounting standpoint but I am concerned about an ethical standpoint," said Voke.

"I have enough in front of me to draw any inferences I want to draw. Clearly, in defense of Mr. Gardiner, there were no guidelines for him to follow. If the guy spends five thousand dollars a year to have dinners and spends it well, I would vote for a motion that would give him an account of x-amount of dollars or whatever you trust him with and if you don't trust him then you shouldn't have hired him. But whatever you give him you expect him to be honest.

"What upsets me is that no charitable, nonprofit organization in the country, irrespective of having guidelines or not having guidelines should use a credit card for Thanksgiving Dinner. What has happened is that every rule of a fiduciary or a person in a trust relationship has been violated. And if the accountant here was pushed to give a decision, the person who did this would be fired. Clearly fired.

"We have two concerns here. Number one, to address the future issue and number two, to address the past issue, and as far as I am concerned, whether the motion fails or wins tonight on the past issue, that should be it in front of this board. It's no accident that this board has in attendance here, people I see in the state house galleries every day; UPI, Boston Globe, all the wire services. Now what this means is the name of this organization is ruined.

"If $5000 is all that this organization is worth, then shame on all of us and if $5000 was misspent, its got to be said that it was misspent and that's it.

"The amount of money is irrelevant. The point is, what was the discretion used? Is this discretion or lack of discretion evidence of the lack of discretion on how this man is to run this organization? I clearly don't know. I am not building a speech here to fire John Gardiner.

"I don't care if I'm labeled a nut as some of the people on this board are labeled. What has happened here is wrong. People who have been labeled as nuts and who have done a service to find out those wrong things have got to realize that day is over. The issue of funding the Kennedy Center for its permanent use in this community has to be addressed. You've got a credit card here that is over 40 percent non-verifiable or verifiable for needs that should not be verified to a charitable organization. What that's indicative of, I do not know.

"I do, very sincerely, question his judgement and his ability to appreciate the issues of what he has to hold himself up to in this organization," concluded Voke.

No board member made any suggestions as to how the Board should handle unverifiable charges. However, Voke's motion to close the investigation of the charges and to accept the report was approved according to the chair, however, no "no" vote was ever taken by the chair.

Ann Considine later asked all board members who had eaten with Gardiner, using the charge, reveal themselves. Babcock, Donovan, Gillen, Blaikie and Sears made such an indication. Considine equated the action (going to eat with Gardiner using the Center's charge cards) to "buying their votes." She had previously been ruled out of order when she made a motion that board members benefitting from use of the charge cards should not take part in the discussion of or vote on the CPA's report regarding use of the cards.

The continuation of the meeting discussed guidelines for future credit card use. Those guidelines voted by the board were:

1. Absolutely no personal use of charge cards.
2. All expenses must be related to the Kennedy Center business and must be used to provide the welfare and betterment of the center.

3. Each expense must be documented with a back-up sheet showing place of expenditures, date, and reason; must include names of those in attendance in the case of meals or trips; must indicate what program expense was for (i.e. EDC, Head Start, NEC, Elderly, Detox, etc.)

4. No cash advances.

5. All charges will be periodically reviewed by the treasurer and yearly by the C.P.A. at the annual audit and reports given to board members.

A motion to accept the policy for future guidelines was entertained by President Cushman. The vote was 17 in favor, with Ann Considine voting no and Joe Kent abstaining.

Other suggestions mentioned but not voted on was that a budget be set for the total amount of monies available for credit expenditures.

Other issues randomly addressed by the board included unavailable time for board members to study the CPA's report, passed out for the first time at the board meeting.

That the report was ready, came as a surprise to most board members last week when the special meeting was announced. Up to that time, Cushman had said no action had been taken on the motion to audit the credit card slips. However, Kiley said he had been approached in March by Kennedy Center Financial Advisor John Sullivan to conduct the audit.

Several board members questioned the fact that other charge cards, namely ARCO, Shell and Lechmere were not included in the report of the CPA. CPA Kiley said that this was the first he had heard of these cards, which Cushman stated were for use by Head Start and Detox. When questioned about the intent of his motion which called for a report on "all charge cards in the name of the Kennedy Center," Voke stated that his concern was on cards used as a "perk" by the Executive Director and was unsure of the number of cards in Gardiner's possession at the time the motion was made and used for dining purposes.

Cushman had opened the meeting by stating this was a special meeting, not the resumption of the board meeting recessed on March 22nd. Asked by Board Member Bob Wallace when that meeting would be reconvened, Cushman said that it would not be reconvened and that the regular board meeting would be held in two weeks.

After discussion from the Board, Cushman addressed the "points of order" made by Wallace at that previous meeting, indicating that the motion by Voke at the February 9th special meeting calling for a review of the charge card records with the deletion of the names of the persons on the slips was in order and would be addressed at this meeting.

Cushman also stated that questions or comments would not be entertained from the spectators, but they could write a note and give it to a board member to have it brought before the board.

Another concern of some board members was the hiring of a parliamentarian, Cornelius Sullivan who is the cousin and law partner of John Sullivan, financial advisor of the Kennedy Center.

In addition, board chairman Jimmy Cushman had hired Boston Police Officer Robert Donahue for a paid detail at the meeting to eject anyone who remained out of order after a warning from the chair.

Gardiner was present at this meeting and took the minutes, which obviously upset some board members and persons in the audience.

The second item on the agenda for this special meeting, copies of which were not received by some board members prior to the meeting, was the financial report of the Center.

Board member Ann Considine stated that the copy of the financial report that she received was in print that was so small and faded that it could not be read even with a magnifying glass.

Cushman stated that Gardiner would try to get copies of the financial report out soon and would come at the May 24th Board Meeting with various suggestions on possible ways to raise funds for the Center.

President Cushman then stated a motion to adjourn was in order. The motion was made by Joe Owens, seconded and quickly passed, amidst protests of some of the board members and spectators.

MEMBER OF THE CHARLESTOWN BOARD OF TRADES

Townie Tidbits,

by Sal Giarratani

Right now the biggest news item in Boston outside of the utter ridiculous disability pension scandal at City Hall is Pac Man and all his video cohorts. And right now there exists a Cold War between the Mayor's Office of Consumer Affairs and Licensing and the State's Licensing Board. To confuse the issue more, both agencies are located side by side at City Hall and both are staffed by city workers.

For years the licensing practices of the city have gone unchallenged until it was recently discovered that two state statutes have existed which negate each other and this has stirred up the controversy.

City Councillor Ray Flynn supports an ordinance giving control of video licenses to the Licensing Board because under specific state statute, it has the power to regulate licensing based on its effect upon "the general good, order and welfare of the community" while the mayoral agency cannot deny an application unless the possibility of criminal activity can be proven before the video games are placed in operation.

"It is very difficult in most situations," Flynn said, "for the Licensing Division (the mayoral agency) to legally deny an application despite the well-founded concerns of community residents and parents."

However, Attorney Jim McDavitt from that agency disagrees, believing his licensing division is far more responsive to community input, especially in the matter in which it advertises public hearings and informs elected officials. Ads are placed in neighborhood papers at least two weeks prior to the hearing and all nine city councillors are informed as is the area's state representative.

According to a spokesperson for the Licensing Board, they only advertise in the Herald American because "it's $18 an inch while the Globe is $25 an inch." That is the full extent of their community outreach unless you ask to be placed on their mailing list.

Flynn's office refutes the statement about being informed on all hearings pertaining to video licenses and believes the licensing division has become overly defensive recently. But McDavitt said his agency will turn down video applicants if community people can present valid reasons and make a strong case.

However, the agency will not "fudge" or make-up reasons for turning down an application as judges would over-rule them on an appeal and in the process destroy the credibility of his agency.

"If no one shows up in opposition at the hearings," McDavitt said, "we have no basis to deny an application. If we start making political reasons, the judicial system will step in and take over like they did in busing." It's hard to tell who's wearing the white hats and who's wearing the black ones in this case. It sounds to many like an old Abbott and Costello routine with everybody on first and all the people of Boston know is that Pac Man is still gobbling up more and more of the city.

BOTTOM LINE
Together, we the people can make the difference if we keep on keeping on!

C.H.S. Has Impressive Turnout On Career Day

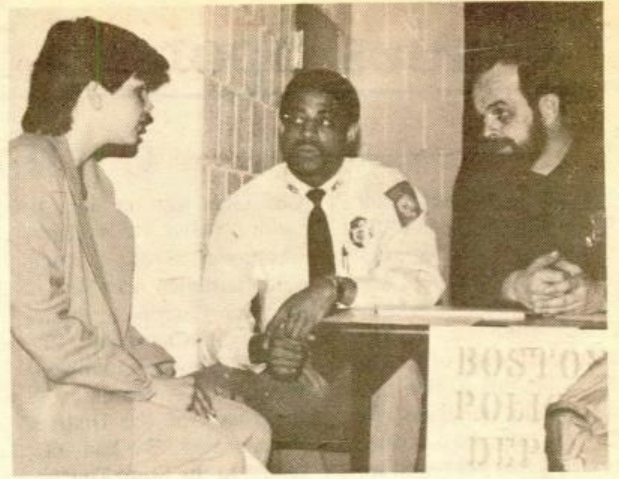

On Thursday, April 1, Charlestown High School and the John F. Kennedy Family Service Center, hosted a Career Awareness Day at the High School for Juniors and Seniors. Twenty one companies and organizations presented information on the different career opportunities available within their specific organizations, and in their fields at large. The purpose of the day was to give students, who will soon be making career decisions, personal access to people who work in a wide range of fields. Over 200 Charlestown High School students participated in the program. The day was a huge success. The representatives of the different companies were very impressed with the interest shown by the students, and the intelligent and informed questions they asked. Charlie Clabaugh and Debbie Fidler - Duffy of the Community Is The School Program - The Kennedy Center's Career Education Program, which coordinated the day-wishes to thank the Charlestown High staff and student body for their enthusiasm and support. Special thanks go to the twenty-one companies and organizations who demonstrated their interest in the students of Charlestown High by taking the time to participate in the Career Day.

Participating companies and organizations were: A.B.C.D.'s Health Careers Opportunity Program, Attorney Kevin Roche, Blowup Haircutters, Boston Fire Department, Boston Police Department Cadet Program, Bunker Hill Health Center, Charlestown Savings Bank, Construction Trade Unions, Hotel Sonesta, Hubert H. Humphrey Occupational Resource Center, Internal Revenue Service, J. F. Kennedy Family Service Center's, Neighborhood Employment Center and Social Services Department, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, Mass. Apprenticeship Office, Mass. Division of Employment Security, New England Telephone, R.K.O. General (W.N.A.C. TV), U.S. Air Force, U.S. Army, U.S. Marine Corps and U.S. Navy.

Irish Update

by Marty O'Brien

The election of Officers of the Bunker Hill Irish Heritage Society took place on Wednesday, May 5th, at the American Legion Hall. A complete listing of those elected to serve the first full one year term will appear in this column next week.

Took in the "Rose of Tralee" contest held at the Cedar Sports Club in Cambridge on Sunday, May 2, and bumped into a few "Townies" and fellow members of the BHIHS. Although a "Townie" didn't win the contest, Charlestown was more than adequately represented by four lovely "colleens" - Kerry Campbell, Patricia Mehan, Patricia Sullivan, and (my personal favorite) Pauline O'Brien.

Things are beginning to click for the Gaelic Football teams. The coaches report that the boys are picking-up the game pretty quickly. In fact, one of the teams travelled to Brighton last week for a scrimmage game, and ended up outscoring the opposition by a considerable margin.

The "12 year and under" team will open up its regular season this Sunday against the Galway team in Brighton at 12 noon and then will play host to the St. Columbkille's team on Sunday, May 16 at 1:15 p.m. at the Medford Street Field. Come on down and root the boys on.

Real Estate Seminar

Century 21 Silva Realty Associates will be presenting a seminar on "How to Buy and Sell Real Estate in the 80's". Local experts will be speaking on several important topics such as law, alternative financing, mortgages and accounting. There will also be a question and answer period. The seminar will be held at the Kent Community School, 50 Bunker Hill Street on Thursday, May 6. The seminar begins at 7:30 p.m. Attendance is by pre-registration. Call 776-6464.

Teenage Volunteers Needed

Teenagers eager to raise their experience quotient are invited to become volunteers this summer at Boston's Museum of Science. Interviews are now underway.

Ninth-grader and older students spend two mornings a week in Project Eye-Opener. They act as guides to small groups of young children five to eight, most of whom have never been in a museum before. In addition to showing exhibits, the guides introduce the children to live animals and serve refreshments.

Project Eye-Opener runs on Monday and Thursday mornings from July 12 through August 12. A training session is held all day on July 8 and another on the afternoon of July 12.

To arrange for an interview, applicants should call the Volunteer Office at 723-2500, ext. 259.

"Townies" Alert Inhabitants To Fire

Two weeks ago, there was a fire at the Warren Tavern Apartments on Main Street. But for the quickness and fast thinking of three "Townies," the fire could have been a lot worse. They are John McGrath, who pulled the fire alarm, Mike McGrath and John Keane, who warned the tenants and patrons of the Warren Tavern. These young men were on their way to a Bruins Hockey Game and were walking by when they noticed flames leaping through the second floor.

Thanks to John, Mike, and "Keano" the situation was under control with the fast arrival of the Fire Department.

TIPS FOR TEETH

Steven A. Arena,

ORTHODONTICS

For the treatment of crooked or overcrowded teeth, for spaces that can be closed, for bites (occlusion) that do not properly mesh, for health reasons to preserve the dentition, and for esthetics to make the teeth conform to the facial structure.

There are about 4,000,000 dental patients being treated with orthodontics in the United States at this time. One fifth (20%) of these patients are adults, twenty years of age or older. The increase in adult patients is primarily due to the technical developments in orthodontics making braces less noticeable and more acceptable to many adults. Patients have become more educated in what orthodontics can do. We realize that serious dental disease, like gum disease or tooth loss, may be prevented by orthodontic treatment. Also many adults are just dissatisfied with the appearance of their teeth and wish to do something about it. Perhaps it is status to be under treatment; perhaps it is desire from childhood; or perhaps it is an opportunity to be the center of attention. Whatever the reason, adults are being treated.

One other reason could be that financially orthodontics is not a terribly expensive procedure and a very good value because of the benefits that may be derived. Furthermore, dental insurances may help to reduce the cost and newer methods do not show the stainless steel bands that used to be so unsightly. And if there are many people having orthodontics done, it is a comfort for the new patient to go along with the treatment. What a subject to talk about!

Dr. Steven Arena, orthodontist, may be contacted at Dental Associates, 89 Cambridge Street, Charlestown (at Sullivan Square.)

C.Y.H.A. News

As we wind down the 1981-82 season, I would like to express my appreciation to the Board Members who did a fine job this season, to the coaches, to the parents and most of all, the boys who did a fine job representing our town. We realize we had some problems this year, and we will try to correct them in the future.

Our accomplishments of this year were many. As such: Mite I Division Champion; Squirt II Division Champion; Pee Wee II Division Champion; Squirt II Playoff Champion; Pee Wee II Playoff Champion. We had three teams go to the finals of the District Tournament. We had four teams in the State Tournament. We hosted two State Tournaments. Also, our Midget II team won their Division and Playoffs in Beverly.

As President of C.Y.H.A., I think we can do better and with a lot more work from Board Members, Coaches and a lot more support of parents and the community, I think we can re-establish ourselves as a real fine competitive hockey program. I promise I will do everything possible I can to help make 1982-83 season a success.

There will be a general election on Wednesday, May 12th at 7:00 p.m. at the Mary Colbert Apartments, 20 Devens Street. Three board positions are open. There will be one vote per family. Ballots will be available.

Ronald A. Vitale
President C.Y.H.A.

Unruly One To Beat In Wonderland Marathon

Unruly, the top money winner in dog racing history with $186,000 in career purse earnings, is the marathoner to beat in the 30th running of the $135,000 Huestis Marathon at Wonderland Park.

Fresh from successfully defending his crown in the $125,000 Hollywoodian (Fla.), the Mrs. R.H.

Walters owned and Happy Stutz handled Unruly, last year's Flashy Sir Award winner as the nation's leading distance racer, returned to Wonderland where he streaked to six impressive victories last season before bowing as the favorite in the Wonderland Derby.

The three-year, four-month old black demon out of Kelly Jones—Skillful sports a sparkling 116-78-12-9 career record, most of which was compiled in major stakes races across the nation.

The Alberto Salazar of greyhound marathoning had the bad rap of "choking" in the championship finals in seven of nine stakes races — he was scratched in the 1981 Floridian and captured the 1981 $120,000 Hollywoodian — but now has thrown the monkey off his back.

The captain of the 1981 All-America Team will have his paws full at Wonderland over the 7/16ths-of-a-mile course in the George Huestis series.

Youth Vs. Age

by Charlie McGonagle

When does the transition from that wonderful, carefree state of "young", to that not too eagerly anticipated state of "old" actually take place? Are we one day young, and the very next day old? Age is all relative. We are, all of us, both young and old at the same time. Take, for example, the plight of the fifteen year old youngster who is actually too old for grade five, but too young for college. Is not the seventeen years old too young to vote, but much too old to be pushed around the streets by his mother in a wicker stroller?

Imagine how old a thirty year old woman would seem at a high school prom, especially if she took her children along? That same woman would be sent away as being too young if she applied for a Senior Citizen's MBTA Pass.

A forty year old man running for President of the United States would certainly be considered too young, but that same man, as a professional athlete, would be too old.

At fifty, a person is certainly too young to qualify for Social Security Benefits, but I am sure he would be told he is much too old to join the local Boy Scout Troop, don't you agree? And so, on and on it could go.

Now, if we are sure we can be both young and old at the same time, depending upon the relative circumstances, when do we positively conclude that we are totally in one state or the other.

You know you are totally young when your mother tells you to turn down the radio and stop listening to that foolish music.

You know you are totally old when you tell your daughter or son to turn down the radio and stop listening to that foolish music.

You know you are totally young when some greatly anticipated event, like a trip to Hawaii, is "a whole year away."

You know you are totally old when that trip to Hawaii is "only a year away."

You know you are totally young when, shortly after getting your driver's license, even taking your little brother to hockey practice is fun.

You know you are totally old when driving anywhere can be royal pain in the neck.

You know you are totally young when you can spring right out of bed in the morning, even after a night out with the boys.

You know you are totally old when it takes three days to recuperate after a night out with the boys.

You know you are totally young when even the not-too-attractive girls look good.

You know you are totally old when even the extremely attractive girls don't look very good.

You know you are totally young when you can take a flight of stairs two at a time.

You know you are totally old when the thought of taking a flight of stairs two at a time is good reason to sit down.

"One Mo' Time!" Struts Into Boston With Plenty Of Jazz

"One Mo' Time!," the smash hit jazz musical that took New York and London by storm with its recreation of a foot-stompin' 1920's vaudeville night at the legendary Lyric Theatre in New Orleans, strutted into Boston at the Wilbur Theatre on Tuesday, May 4 for four weeks only through Sunday, May 30 in a Bill Hanney and Al Nocciolino presentation.

Sassy jazz and backstage high-jinx add up to a wild night when "Big Bertha Williams" and her touring company are booked into the Lyric. The plot revolves around Bertha, who is jealous of Thelma, who's making eyes at Papa Du, the "business manager," while Ma Reed is swigging bootleg gin. Meanwhile, the theatre owner is trying to weasel out of the contract, one of the singers is in jail, and another has run off with the cash. But when the New Orleans Blue Serenaders—the stage orchestra—gets the downbeat, it's time to jump and shout for an evening of hot jazz, fancy dancin', and hilarity.

Audiences clap along with the syncopated jazz rhythm as the performers dance the Cakewalk and the Black Bottom while belting out saucy 1920's jazz hits like "C.C. Rider," "Kitchen Man," "I've Got What It Takes," "Shake That Thing," "Get On Out of Here," "The Right Key But the

You know you are totally old when you refer to the same guy as "being only forty."

You know you are totally young when grey hair represents age.

You know you are totally old when grey haired persons are distinguished looking.

You know you are totally young when the first page you open to in the morning newspaper contains the comics.

You know you are young, but not totally, when the first page you open to in the morning newspaper is the sports section.

You know you are old, but not totally, when you read the headlines before the sports in the morning newspaper.

You know you are totally old when the first page you open to in the morning newspaper contains the obituaries.

You know you are totally young when the term "bi-focals" appears to be from some Asiatic language.

You know you are totally old when bi-focals are a permanent part of your every day equipment.

And finally, you know you are totally young when absolutely nothing your parents have to say makes sense.

You know you are older and wiser when all the things your parents preached over all those years, which never made any sense, are the same things you are preaching to your own children. Somehow, now, all the pieces seem to fit neatly into place.

Wrong Keyhole," and the famous "Dark Town Strutters Ball."

"One Mo' Time!" joyfully recreates the days when performers worked the old TOBA circuit. TOBA stood for "Theatre Owners Booking Association" but the performers called it "Tough on Black Actors." The greatest names in jazz—Bessie Smith, Ma Rainey, Butterbeans & Susie, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson and "Sweet Mama Stringbean" (later known as Ethel Waters) all played on the TOBA circuit.

The Lyric was destroyed by fire in 1927. All that's left is a robin's egg blue tile on the sidewalk at the corner of Ibrville and Burgundy Streets with word, "Lyric." But the Lyric lives again—in fact, it roars—when "One Mo' Time!" makes happy audiences stomp their feet, clap their hands, and yell for mo!

"One Mo' Time!" is playing now through Sunday, May 30 at the Wilbur Theatre, 246 Tremont Street, Boston. Performances Tuesday - Saturday at 8:00 p.m., Matinees Wednesday and Saturday at 2:00 p.m., Sunday at 3:00 p.m. Beginning the week of May 17, the Wednesday 2:00 p.m. Matinee will be replaced by a Sunday, 7:30 p.m. performance.

Reaches Championship Without Formal Coaching

The Council and staff at the Kent/Charlestown Community School Program want to congratulate nine Charlestown and South Boston youth who reached the championship game in the Mat-tahunt Community School Basketball Tournament before losing to a Mission Hill team led by All-American Mark "Butch" Wade. The final score was 78 to 57.

The "Andy" Puopolo Team" with Charlestown players Danny Fitzpatrick, Michael Johnson, Paul Mahoney, Paul Willard, Eddie Codair and Robert Cuccinotta, and South Boston representatives Jerry Wright, Sean McCarthy and Billy Cooney shocked the host Mat-tahunt Team 80-79 in the quarterfinals. Two nights later they beat the Roxbury Multi-Service Center 70-69 to reach the championship game.

"The most impressive feature of the team's accomplishment is the fact that they played and won with minimal formal practice and coaching," stated Michael Griffin, Interim Community School Coordinator. The players came together a week before the Tournament without a coach and drilled themselves. Two Charlestown residents volunteered to coach the actual games meeting the players as a team the night of the games. The players coached themselves in the championship game and the trophy won at the Tournament is a credit to their team play, desire and individual skills. They deserve the applause they received from the fans, other teams and referees. Their trophy will be on display at the Charlestown High Community School and we hope that it represents the first of many to come."

TRUE GRIT

Get yourself an easel, some oil or water color paints, and some good brushes ... and then proceed to paint a still life, perhaps a landscape, or even a portrait, but please understand there's one hitch - you must use only your mouth or a foot to hold the brush to create your masterpiece!

Banded together in an "International Association of Mouth and Foot Painting Artists Worldwide," some 161 handicapped artists do just that, supporting themselves through reproduction of their efforts on note paper, all occasion cards, wrapping paper, sale of "original" paintings, and many other products and, remarkably, with a livelihood free from welfare.

The sales subsidiary in this country is at Buffalo, New York, and their main purpose is to market the artists' products which, in turn, provides a lifelong income that doesn't terminate even though the artist might no longer be capable of artistic endeavor.

In the words of Miss Neita Kimmel of Catawissa, Pennsylvania, "People used to look at me and say: 'Poor thing, she can't do anything.' But one day something happened ... The little girl who couldn't do anything was painting with her mouth." And she's got a lot of company right here in the U.S.

Massachusetts is represented in the persons of Jimmy Rodolfos of Woburn, and Michael T. Thomasian of Leominster, both fortyish and both mouthpainters. Jimmy was injured in a swimming accident when seventeen, causing paralysis from his neck down while, similarly, Mike became paralyzed at age 21 as the result of a diving accident. Mr. Rodolfos has attended courses at the Fine Art School, and specializes in painting delicate still lifes and colorful landscapes. He takes part in many international art exhibitions and frequently lectures about the artists of the Association, which includes a slide presentation and demonstration. Those who might be interested are invited to call him at his home - Telephone 933-2219. His cohort, Mr. Thomasian, began to sketch and paint by mouth in 1963, and has developed into a promising landscape painter. P.S. We have a reproduction of Jimmy Rodolfos' painting "Golden Harvest" on our desk. Well, you'd have to see it to believe it and, as one might well imagine, all these enterprising artists have received many prizes and awards for their artistic works at art exhibits. Many of their paintings hang in the national galleries of several countries.

The FACT SHEET kindly provided by the "Association of Handicapped Artists, Inc." (503 Brisbane Bldg., Buffalo, N.Y. 14203) points out that the artists themselves own and control the Association, which is deliberately not registered as a charity because "They are proud to be able to earn an honest living, doing the work they know best."

They do not want pity, they do not ask for gifts. All they need is a chance to work for a livelihood." We can't help but hope that some of the Mass. "Workfare" complainers are reading this ... as a matter of fact, hadn't we all better stop complaining - we ain't got it so tough!

Ours is just one of many articles written about the Association and its artists, of course, and they have been featured on television and radio, but the bottom line is "courage." Such self-esteem derived from prideful initiative, under the most difficult of circumstances, as an integral part of that greatness we call "America." In putting "the story" together, we had occasion to speak with Jimmy. He truly exemplifies the assessment of our headline - "True Grit." We look forward to meeting him personally one day, and already cherish this new friendship.

Incidentally, documentary films entitled "Could You," "Where There's A Will," and "Born Again" are available in 16 mm, 27 minute sound track color (or 3/4" video tape cassette) on loan - FREE OF CHARGE to requesting groups and/or organizations. You'll never have a better reason to contact the Association at the afore-mentioned Buffalo, N.Y. address. And tell 'em S.T.O.P. sent you.

THANK YOU....

Our National Mailing Program continues to thrive, still reaching over 800 individuals groups and organizations in a 36 state area, thanks to the following "patrons" who supplied postage (in stamp form only) since our last mention:

"WHY I SWEAR"....

1. It pleases Mother so much. 2. It is a fine mark of manliness. 3. It proves I have self control. 4. It indicates how clearly my mind operates. 5. It makes my conversation so pleasing to everybody. 6. It leaves no doubt in anyone's mind as to my good breeding. 7. It impresses people that I have more than ordinary education. 8. It is an unmistakable sign of culture and refinement. 9. It makes me a very desirable personality amongst women and children and in respectable society, and 10. It is my way of honoring God who said "Thou Shalt Not Take The Name of The Lord Thy God in Vain." (submitted by J. Biggert of Memphis, Tennessee).

CALED HOME....

We lament the recent unexpected death of the Honorable John Ashbrook, U.S. House of Representatives.

Congressman Ashbrook was a key advocate of pro-family legislation, which included an Amendment against forced busing, and most recently had acquired the support of the national pro-life political action committee of LAPAC in his bid for a U.S. Senate seat.

Our nation, and the good people of Ohio, are poorer for his passing. R.I.P.

Local Youngsters Clean Up

LOCAL YOUNGSTERS got a head start on "spring clean-up" by spending this past Sunday with rakes, brooms, shovels, etc. cleaning up the corner of Bunker Hill and Monument Streets. Their example should be one that residents and businesses alike should follow. Congratulations, kids, for taking the time to clean up your neighborhood.

Views On Dental Health
by Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D.

BABY BOTTLE TOOTH DECAY

From a dental point of view, nursing babies from bottles can cause problems. Dentally-speaking-what's the worst thing you can do to a baby? Stick him in his crib with a bottle at nap time and let him fall asleep with the bottle in his mouth. Milk or juice in the mouth and on the teeth turns to acid and causes teeth to break down rapidly. Many babies who sleep with a baby bottle develop severe tooth decay, often in their front teeth. The problem is not the bottle but what's in it. The sugar in the milk, formula, or fruit juices causes the decay. Sometimes, these teeth become so decayed they cause severe pain and may break off or have to be pulled.

During the day, the baby swallows these drinks quickly, so there is no damage to the teeth. But during sleep, the liquid pools behind the baby's teeth and keeps them bathed in sugar for hours.

One solution is to give baby the last feeding before bedtime. If your baby is still using a bottle when his teeth begin to appear, let him use it for short periods of time awake or sitting up. If he is using a bottle as a pacifier, put water in the bottle.

Issues On Aging

Questions: Why do older people live in the past?
Answer: What may appear to be living in the past is actually an intense reviewing of the past. As people age, they begin to scrutinize their own history, to evaluate the meaning of their lives. Reminiscing in this manner, recalling events and people, reliving episodes is a normal process. It has, in fact, been termed the "life review" by gerontologists. Not only is the process normal but it is necessary to one's well being in later years. It is at this time that an older person puts his/her life in order. Old conflicts are remembered and there may be an attempt to resolve them before the end of one's life.

During the process of spontaneously remembering life's events, many emotions come to the surface. There can be some regret, guilt, or depression over incidents or unresolved problems. These feelings are normal, although some people may need help in dealing with them. On the other hand, although some people may need help in dealing with them. On the other hand, there can be joy and pride, a sense of coming to grips with one's past. For most people there is probably a combination of both positive and negative feelings.

The life review occurs during all of life's stages but is most prevalent during the later years. The past often gives strength to face the days ahead. Hopefully, an older person will gain a sense of peace and triumph from reviewing the past, the feeling that one has tried his/her best and that life is indeed worthwhile.

The BHHC Geriatric Team welcomes your questions on aging. Address your questions to the Geriatric Team, Bunker Hill Health Center, 73 High St., Charlestown. Names withheld upon request.
