

SENTRY Q& A: DOES THE SENTRY HAVE A ROGUE GALLERY?

He actually has one and it's quite interesting as well.

Before we get into the rogue gallery itself, the very first opponent Sentry has ever faced should be mentioned at first, because there is interesting context to that fight as well:

BLUE BUFFOON:

Sentry's very first fight was against the Blue Buffoon, a clown with a blue suit. The Blue Buffoon robbed a bank and the Sentry (before he created his suit) stopped him:

The interesting part is that the Sentry used to draw the Blue Buffoon as a child:

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076162-bluebuffoon2.jpg>

It is confirmed by his bio, that the Blue Buffoon was the first form the Void has ever shapeshifted into:

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076165-bluebuffoon3.jpg>

So with the Void being Sentry's very first opponent and overall his most fierce one, he should get the top spot in his rogue gallery.

THE VOID

http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076188-void_looks.jpg

Catch Phrase: The Angel of Death / Beast of Impossible Shadow / Monster of Antithesis

First Appearance: Sentry V1 #1

Powers: Molecule Manipulation

The Void has many of the same powers as the Sentry: super strength, super speed, invulnerability, flight, regeneration and immortality. They're all a side-effect of actual main power, which is molecule manipulation.

However, the Void does use certain abilities, which the Sentry doesn't necessarily use. The best example, which is also the least prominent one is an instance, where the Void gave a young mother untreatable breast cancer, because the Sentry healed a young girl from her vegetative state.

Void also changes his form often. He had many different appearances throughout the years, ranging from a shadowy figure in a coat to building-sized monsters, which makes it clear that the Void can alter his size, which is something we haven't seen the Sentry doing to such an extent.

For the longest time the Void was the only one using infi-tendrils of darkness, which were intangible and capable of empathically assaulting every opponent. That is without a doubt one of Void's most powerful abilities, but the Sentry has recently used the same ability in Uncanny Avengers, which means that it's not exclusive to the Void.

Another difference is that the Void passively absorbs anti-matter in the Negative Zone and becomes stronger that way, while the Sentry becomes less and less powerful in there. The opposite is the case for solar radiation, which makes Sentry stronger.

That again is an indicator for the limits Sentry's mind sets up for him. A stable minded Sentry should in theory be able to absorb anti-matter as well, because he is already doing it as the Void, which would then make him more powerful. And the same can be said for all kinds of energy.

Bio: The Void was the personality that manifested first, when Robert Reynolds drank the enhanced version of the super-soldier-serum. In order to balance the dark creature out Robert became the Sentry and pushed the Void aside.

From that point on the Void appeared as a separate entity every now and then and caused chaos and destruction all over the world, while the Sentry was trying to stop him.

The Void's actions were various in scale. Sometimes he was robbing a bank and sometimes, he was killing people, animals and overall truly showing how malevolent the human nature can be. One can assume that the scale of his actions was on the same level as the scale of Sentry's most recent heroics. If Sentry healed someone, Void harmed someone. If Sentry saved someones life, the Void took a life. Because of that they engaged in many battles.

During one of these battles the stakes were as high as they could ever be. The Sentry got the better of the Void after a brutal fight and tossed him into the Sun. The Void however promised that he would return.

The Sentry was growing ill from all the responsibility he had. He started falling apart mentally and these were the moments, where the Void started coming but, but this time he didn't have to manifest as a separate entity. With the Sentry becoming weaker he had the chance to take over his body and that's what he did from that point on. He was becoming the more powerful entity at that point.

The madness got to a point, where Sentry joined the Dark Avengers and was manipulated by Norman Osborn aka the Green Goblin. That crazy relationship ended in Osborn and his goons attacking Asgard. The Sentry also participated in that fight, but at that point he was not in control anymore at all. The Void completely took over at that point and caused insane chaos and destruction. He killed two gods and took down Asgard. During a brief moment, where the Avengers managed to fight him off Robert took over again, realized what the Void had done and asked to be killed. He was holding the Void back, while the Avengers killed him and flew him into the Sun, where his corpse burnt down to a single atom.

From that atom however the Sentry started regenerating, while the Void was trying to take over again. Sentry was fighting back and let himself burn down, only to regenerate back again.

After years of that cycle the Void got bored of it and supposedly left Sentry's mind.

Sentry's body then got pulled out of the Sun by the Apocalypse Twins and affected by a Celestial's Death Seed.

Recently Sentry has stated that the Void went to the White Hot Room, which is the dimension the Phoenix and its hosts reside.

THE GENERAL

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076202->

general-looks.jpg

Catch Phrase: The Crazy General

First Appearance: Sentry & X-Men

Powers: Mental Manipulation, Genius Level Intelligence, Master Engineer

The Sentry warned the Hulk about the General's ability to influence minds. The General used his ability to make allies in the Negative Zone, which were serving him in the end as his own, private army.

The General is also a genius in his own right, who can create all kinds of miniaturized, but very dangerous and useful gadgets.

The gadgets are all based on themes of war like soldiers and assorted battlecrafts like helicopters, jets and tanks.

Some of these gadgets can emit blasts powerful enough to shoot even the Sentry from the battlefield. The General's intelligence is being underlined yet again, when he sends specific gadgets after specific X-Men in order to take them out effectively: tanks with heat rays were used on Iceman to negate his ice powers, while tanks with sound blasters were used on Jean Grey to mess with her concentration and negate her telekinesis. Cyclops has been taken out by helicopters, which attacked his eyes with acid rays.

Additionally to that the General has gadgets, with which he can generate force fields.

Bio: The General was creating gadgets for the military, before he went crazy. From that point on he was mostly trying to take over the world, or at least destroy parts of it, which he didn't like (mainly France, because the General is Francophobe = he really, really hates France).

At one point the General was trying to destroy France with a couple of nuclear bombs. Sentry and the X-Men confronted him, but when the General told them that he had already fired the nuclear bombs the Sentry flew away in order to stop them. The General used his miniaturized gadget-army in order to take the X-Men out in seconds with little to no effort. Sentry managed to defuse all of the bombs but one mid air, which the General manually activated. The Sentry however survived the nuclear explosion and flew back, where Angel already managed to overcome his fears and do what was needed in order to stop the General.

The next time we saw the General he somehow subdued and captured the Sentry. He hired Mastermind to create illusions, who forced the Sentry to erase the memories of all the people on the planet, including the General and the Sentry himself. Sentry being forgotten yet again was a good enough victory for the General, even if he forgot about him as well.

Sentry's memories started coming back again, because subconsciously he didn't want to be forgotten. Later on he learned about the General's new location, which was in the Negative Zone. The General knew that Sentry's powers were fading in the Negative Zone, which is why he retreated there.

Sentry and the Hulk went to the Negative Zone and faced the General and his army. During the chaos of the fight the Void emerged and killed the General.

XENIAC

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076210-xeniac-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: None

First Appearance: Sentry V2 #2

Powers: Super Strength, Invulnerability, Force Field, High Tech Mace

Xeniac's powers have not been established at all. He may or may not have super strength and invulnerability. However, these two abilities are the typical standard for brutes and Xeniac certainly looks like a brute. He might have more powers though.

During his one appearance he had a force field around him and he was wielding a weapon, which looked like a high tech mace, which may or may not have specific properties.

Bio: Xeniac appeared only briefly during Sentry's second mini. He was on a rampage, when the Sentry engaged him in a fight. Xeniac was glad for the opportunity to attack the Sentry, stating that the Factious Five have been preparing for a long time for the moment of his death. Sentry defeated Xeniac, who then told the Sentry that he knew about his wife and that he would be dead before he even got back home. Sentry warned him that if he ever dared to even think about harming Lindy, he would show him the true meaning of pain. Xeniac has not appeared since that encounter and is either on the loose, captured somewhere or in the Negative Zone, where Sentry used to throw his enemies in to protect the Earth from them.

NOTE: Xeniac is a member of the Factious Five, which is a group of villains, who are trying to take the Sentry down with combined efforts. Basically like the Spider-Man and the Sinister Six.

DANNY BOY

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076216-dannyboy-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: Brutal Beast of Begorra

First Appearance: Sentry V2 #3

Powers: Super Strength, Invulnerability

Danny Boy's power set is extremely unestablished and as for now he seems to be a simple brawler. His power set most likely includes super strength and invulnerability, since he was fighting the Sentry and the Hulk.

Bio: Danny Boy is an irish themed enemy of the Sentry and seems to be operating out of the Negative Zone. In the Negative Zone Danny Boy was a part of the General's army and attacked the Sentry and the Hulk alongside other allies.

The Sentry and the Hulk were able to fight the army off, until the Void came along and effectivly ended the fight by killing the General.

Nothing has been heard of Danny Boy since then.

CRANIO

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076201-cranio-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: The Man with the Tri-Level Mind

First Appearance: The Age of the Sentry #1

Powers: Genius Level Intelligence, Master Engineer

Cranio is so smart, that he is always three steps ahead of his opponents. And sometimes they're three steps behind him. Literally. Cranio is almost never really there. Either it's just a robot copy of him on the battlefield, or a hologram. Even if it's the real him, he has force fields, which are powerful enough to slow down even the Sentry. Cranio has explored deep space and collected various aliens and artifacts, which he uses in his fights against the Sentry. Cranio is smart enough to manipulate the genetic code and grant his minions additional abilities.

He also wields a gun, that can lobotomize his victims and often flies around on various handy flight devices like hover boards and in UFO's.

During one of his adventures, Cranio was on a moon, that was emitting radiation strong enough to kill humans, but Cranio was dealing with it just fine. Not only that, but he also didn't need a special suit or even air to survive on the moon / in space, which indicates that Cranio is either an android or something overall more powerful than a human.

Bio: Not much is known about Cranio other than his wish to begin a campaign of terror, whatever that means. But whatever it does mean, it sounds evil and is the reason why Sentry and him are enemies. In fact, he is one of Sentry's arch-enemies.

Cranio has directly and indirectly created some of Sentry's enemies like Ursus and Gorax. He has also teamed up with the Void in order to siphon Sentry's power and re-direct it to himself in order to become more powerful. During one of these team up's the Void betrayed and killed Cranio.

However with Cranio's track record of leaving robotic copies of himself behind, the real Cranio might have survived the backstab.

IMPORTANT: The Age of the Sentry is non-canon, which means that nothing in that series affects the regular 616 Marvel universe.

GORAX

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076218-gorax-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: None

First Appearance: The Age of the Sentry #1

Powers: Super Strength, Durability, Regeneration, Life Force Siphoning

Gorax is capable of siphoning the life force of his opponents. He starts as a brain inside living gelatin, but once he starts siphoning life force, he also starts regenerating back. Organs and bones are being structured and he arguably becomes more powerful. He does not seem to have invulnerability, since the Sentry was capable of punching Gorax' brain out of the living gelatin and taking Gorax out that way.

Bio: During one of Cranio's adventures in deep space he found, killed and cut open an alien. Like always he only kept the brain, which was then saved by the Sentry. Sentry gave the brain to the Professor, who wanted to test it on the living gelatin he created. The gelatin was taking on forms, after receiving thoughts coming from brain waves. Gorax' brain used the living gelatin to create a new body for himself, but he still had to siphon the life force of others to fully regenerate. He drained Sentry's power and went after Cranio, but got stopped by the combined efforts of Sentry, Scout and Lindy.

Sentry retrieved the brain, which was later on stolen by Cranio again, who disconnected the higher functions of the brain to turn off its independent thinking. He also multiplied its cells, so that the brain would grow big enough - to a size, where it could contain Sentry's siphoned power and essence. During the fight between the Sentry and the Void Cranio's base started burning and with it also Gorax' brain.

IMPORTANT: The Age of the Sentry is non-canon, which means that nothing in that series affects the regular 616 Marvel universe.

URSUS

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076219-ursus-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: The Ultra-Bear

First Appearance: The Age of the Sentry #2

Powers: Super Strength, Invulnerability, Flight, Radioactive Vision

Ursus is a genetically manipulated bear. She is physically strong enough to overpower the Sentry and she also has invulnerability, which prevents her from taking any noticeable damage. Weirdly enough she can also fly.

Thanks to the genetic code alteration Ursus also has eyebeams, which seem to emit some kind of a negative energy. Sentry described it as "radioactive vision", which was making the Sentress and him weaker.

Bio: Cranio once came across a radioactive moon. The radiation was deadly for humans, but not for animals. It also had the interesting effect to make the animals overall very powerful. But Cranio could not control them, which is why he bought the circus bear Ursus. Ursus was well trained and easily controllable.

He used the radiation on Ursus and changed her genetic code even further with additional tests. All the chemicals in Ursus' body needed a kick-start though. Cranio tricked the Sentry into attacking Ursus with a solar blast, which then empowered Ursus. She instantly grew in size and became so powerful that she managed to get the better of the Sentry quickly.

Cranio didn't view Sentry as a threat anymore and went on to begin his campaign of terror. Sentry engaged Cranio and Ursus in yet another fight and lured Ursus to the south pole, where her original biology kicked back in. As a bear in the wild during winter Ursus' natural instincts were to lay down inside a cave and hibernate.

Cranio later on visited Ursus and cut her brain out in order to replace it with Gorax' brain, which was in the lab of the Professor in order to trick him into believing that Gorax' brain was still in safety, while Cranio in fact was working on yet another evil plan.

IMPORTANT: The Age of the Sentry is non-canon, which means that nothing in that series affects the regular 616 Marvel universe.

SUPER-COLLIDER

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076224-supercollider-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: Russian Battering Ram

First Appearance: The Age of the Sentry #2

Powers: Super Strength, Invulnerability, Energy Absorption

The Super-Collider is powerful enough to easily deal with the Fantastic Four. He was tossing Human Torch and even the Thing around, who alongside Reed Richards stated that the Super-Collider was too strong and too dangerous.

Bio: The Super-Collider is a top-notch soviet physicist, who harnessed the secret of atomic power. He first started off causing chaos in Russia, where he encountered the Sentry.

Super-Collider was also seen in America. The Fantastic Four tried to stop him, but didn't stand a chance. The Sentry knew, that he couldn't lean back and enjoy the show, because of how dangerous the Super-Collider actually was. Sentry intervened and overloaded the Super-Collider with power and thus saving the Fantastic Four. S.H.I.E.L.D. then took the Super-Collider into custody.

DESTROYER DARKMASS

<http://static.comicvine.com/uploads/original/10/108566/4076240-destroyerdarkmass-looks.jpg>

Catch Phrase: None

First Appearance: The Age of the Sentry #6

Powers: Nigh-Omnipotence

The Destroyer Darkmass seems to be able to create and destroy the reality, but he doesn't seem to be able to override already established physics.

Bio: The Destroyer Darkmass is a powerful being, who tried re-writing the reality he resides in to change it into something different. He was able to destroy and create it, but never to get past the already established physics of that said reality.

Sentry's sentient power was living in that reality and could not exist in that universe anymore, which is why it got forced out of that reality and got forced out of it, into a different universe, where it got captured and used as a substance in the enhanced version of the super-soldier-serum, which the Sentry later on drank.

IMPORTANT: The Age of the Sentry is non-canon, which means that nothing in that series affects the regular 616 Marvel universe.

Sentry had few other enemies, but behind these there is even less context than behind his alleged Galactus fight.
