

UHM BASEMENTS LIMITED

London Basement Waterproofing

UHM Basement Construction Company London

At UHM Basements Limited, we offer an extensive basement construction service to clients in London including FTSE companies, commercial buildings, small business and landlords in and around the local surrounding area.

The builders and contractors at UHM Basements London work well as a team, which will give you reassurance knowing that the job will be completed on time, with minimal disturbance.

To read more about our basement conversion service, browse our website or contact us on 0208 516 7751 or by filling out the call-back form.

What is Basement Waterproofing?

Basement waterproofing is the treatment needed for basements and cellars, tanking systems and cavity drain membrane to make them dry and usable. It creates a waterproof barrier to make sure that water penetration doesn't occur in your basement's structure. This will make the walls and floors waterproof, which will prevent problems such as water damage, premature wearing and any other potential issues that may affect your buildings strength and stability due to water damage.

Basement waterproofing services can also be applied to other properties that do not have a basement but have ground-level rooms, especially in older properties where the ground level floor is below external ground level to add extra reassurance and solidity.

Why Does My New Basement Need Waterproofing?

A commercial building or property is an important investment and it will need regular maintenance and refurbishment to keep the interior in tip top shape. However, it is also important to make certain that the building's foundations are structurally sound, for the safety of the people in the building and around it.

When it comes to a basement or cellar, it is just as important because it is at the base of the building, which means it has to be strong and stable to take the weight of the rest of your building.

Basement waterproofing London is a vital step in the construction and maintenance of your basement.

At UHM Basements, we have seen the effects of a lack of proper basement waterproofing and the horrible effects it can have to your building. That is why we provide you with a waterproofing and tanking service to avoid these situations.

UHM Basements Waterproofing Service London

Our highly-skilled and experienced builders and general contractors are fully trained in all aspects of basement services. This includes basement construction, extensions and conversion as well as additional basement repair and general basement maintenance. This makes sets UHM Basements apart from all the other large basement conversion companies as we have the knowledge and experience needed to provide you with a full basement service from start to finish.

Because we have so much experience under our belts and have a close-knit team of fully trained and qualified builders and contractors, we have the skills to assess your current basement or cellar to provide a solution to your basement's problems.

Our basement waterproofing services in London is a long-term solution to damp basement and will eliminate the possibility of water penetration. This will make your basement the perfect foundation for a conversion and will keep your property looking great and functioning correctly for many years to come!

Basement Tanking

A waterproof basement tanking system makes sure that no water or moisture can seep into the basement's structure. This will eliminate any risk of potential basement issues such as wet or dry rot, rising damp or mould.

Having a waterproofing basement tanking system gives you the ability to use your basement or cellar as you would with any other room in your building, commercial property or home.

In a highly competitive property market, having a basement tanking system installation will give you the edge when selling your property. It will also ensure you get the best out of your basement or cellar and will prolong the life of your basement exponentially.

Get in Touch With Our Professional Basement Builders

If you are looking for a professional basement waterproofing and tanking service in London, then look no further. We are extremely attentive and having our building expertise will only benefit you and your property.

We are fully insured and honest, making us a reliable basement conversion company that you can trust. Whatever you need, we will be happy to help.

But don't just take our word for it. Feel free to look at what our previous clients have to say about the work we have done for them. We have done projects from minor basement maintenance to major basement reconstruction and extensions. We are also capable of building your basement from scratch at both already existing buildings and building still in construction. No job is too big or too small for UHM Basements.

For more information on our basement waterproofing and tanking services, or to enquire about our basement construction services, get in touch by calling us on 0208 516 7751 or by filling out the enquiry form for a free call back. One of our team will get back to you about any questions you may have. We look forward to hearing from you!